

Democratic Plan For Tax Revision Winning Support

Thousands of Telegrams and Letters From Every Part of Country Prove Substitute's Popularity.

MELLON PLAN DRAFTED
IN SECRET, SAYS HULL

Democratic Provisions
Will Give Greater Relief, Under Logical Tax Structure, He Asserts.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON,
Associate Editor The Constitution.

Washington, January 8.—The democratic substitute for the Mellon tax reduction plan has struck a popular appeal. Thousands of telegrams and letters are pouring in upon the members of congress of both parties in its favor, and particularly from the agricultural states of the south and middle west. The apprehension at first glance, which was and is urged and capitalized by republican politicians, that a democratic substitute meant a political foisting of the paramount economic issue of general federal tax reductions, has been dissipated tonight by emphatic statements made to The Constitution by democratic national leaders that the democrats in congress to a man will fight to the last ditch for tax reduction, regardless of party advantages or exposures but in the interest of the material welfare of the nation.

A calm and dispassionate survey of the situation, robbed of all party prejudices, discloses that the Mellon plan as originally submitted does not meet the approval of the middle western republicans, and is bitterly fought by the insurgent republican element, which has submitted a plan of its own reaching the length of usual insurgent extremes. The democratic plan is a compromise between the administration and insurgent plans and therefore stands out boldly as the only recourse for actual tax reform legislation before the summer adjournment. There are enough of the insurgent and agricultural groups in the republican majority to swing the democratic plan, perhaps changing some by amendments, into enactment.

Counsel Cooperation.
The sane elements on both sides of the house are today counseling conservative, constructive cooperation and the elimination of demagogues. The more practical democratic leaders have with tact and skill turned to a phase of the situation where tax reduction is practicable and where it can be had with no more delay than is necessary to pass an act of whose feasibility and necessity the country is convinced.

The democratic plan proposes still lower rates than Mr. Mellon's for small and moderate incomes, a further reduction of one-third on earned incomes, where Mr. Mellon proposes one-quarter, and rates somewhat higher than Mr. Mellon's on the larger incomes. All these changes are properly subject to debate. There is nothing sacred about a tax rate. It is a business problem to be attacked.

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

It's a blithesome salesman who will work a customer up to the point of selling him, and then say to him, "I'll see you tomorrow."

The danger of losing contact with your customer is stressed in the kindergarten class of salesmanship.

Suppose you were a clothier in Atlanta and you knew the exact day on which every man in town was going to buy a suit of clothes, and suppose no other dealer in town had this information. It would be easy picking, wouldn't it?

Would you send around the evening before and talk the man up to the point of buying and then say to him, "I'll see you tomorrow?" He is going home and you are closing up your shop—there isn't anything else to do.

Wouldn't you lay for that man first thing in the morning on the day when he is really going to buy—and wouldn't you discharge a salesman who did otherwise?

Now, every man in Atlanta on some specific day is going to buy a suit of clothes. None of the dealers are mind readers and they don't know when it is going to occur.

But the smart dealer who places smashing salesmanship copy in The Atlanta Constitution every morning has the "last say" to these buyers before they array themselves in new attire.

A message delivered by carrier into 32,000 Atlanta homes.

It's great to print a morning paper in Atlanta!

G. O. P. TO INSIST ON RIGHT OF WAY FOR TAX MEASURE

Express Confidence They Will Be Able to Get Action on Bill Before Bonus Consideration.

COOLIDGE IN ACCORD WITH PLAN PROPOSED

Showdown Expected at Caucus Thursday—Opposition Fails to Alter
Plans of the Leaders.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Washington, January 8.—Confidence was expressed today by republican leaders of the house that they would be able to press a tax reduction bill to a vote before action is had on the soldiers' bonus.

Opposed to giving priority to the bonus—a question expected to come to a showdown at a conference of house republicans Thursday night—Representative Longworth, the majority leader, notified the group of former service men who are demanding a vote on adjusted compensation ahead of tax legislation, that no effort would be made to dodge the issue.

"We Have You Beaten."
For an hour Mr. Longworth was in conference with Representatives Johnson, of South Dakota; Fish, of New York, and Andrew, of Massachusetts, who were active in having the conference called. He told them that "we have you beaten and will show you Thursday night."

The discussion was had after it had been announced at the white house that President Coolidge was in hearty support of plans to give tax legislation right of way over the bonus. At the same time, a white house spokesman, in discussing the tax situation, said the president considered that the surtax schedule carried in the German democratic substitute for the Mellon bill would tend to discourage the investment of capital in business enterprises rather than in tax exempt securities.

Fails to Alter Plan.
The opposition of organization leaders to the program failed to alter the plans of the republican soldier bloc. Those who went over the situation with Mr. Longworth later held a conference and determined to go into the party conference prepared to bring about a vote on the priority question.

Another meeting of members of the group will be held before Thursday night's meeting. At the time it will be decided what sort of a resolution will be presented. Leaders in the movement tonight declared they would either call on the ways and means committee to report a bonus bill by January 21 or recommend its passage as soon as it completes consideration of the administrative features of the Mellon tax bill.

If a resolution, offered by the veterans, is rejected by the conference, bonus proponents plan to bring their fight to the floor of the house. Such a step, they contend, would be possible as new house rules, which are expected to be adopted next week, undoubtedly will make provision, they predicted, for the discharge of committees.

A motion to discharge the ways and means committee from consideration of the McKenzie bonus bill, which is essentially the same as the compensation measure vetoed by President Harding, would bring about a record vote in the house. Republicans favoring the bill count on the support of democrats to put the measure through.

Cripple Suicides After Brooding Over Ill Health

Samuel Goldberg Slays Self in Office of His Brother.

Seated in a chair in the offices of the United Manufacturing company, on the fourth floor of the Throver building, Samuel Goldberg, of 359 St. Charles avenue, Tuesday evening, sent a bullet crashing through his brain and died a few minutes later in Grady hospital.

Goldberg, who was a cripple, worked for the United Manufacturing company, which his brother, Albert, owned. He is reported to have been in ill health for some time, having suffered the loss of both legs due to blood poison.

He appeared to be in the best of spirits Tuesday evening, however, so far as Detectives John Crankshaw and S. J. Hunt could learn from those located in the same building.

Other employees of the United Manufacturing company had gone for the evening when Goldberg shot himself. He told the negro janitor, Will Rhodes, according to officers, to go downstairs and bring him a soft drink, autographing the negro to lock the door as he went out.

The noise of the pistol was heard as the negro reached the bottom floor. This attracted the attention of J. A.

Continued on Page 2, Column 7.

Famous Humorist Mirthless As She Asks "Square Deal"

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

New York, January 8.—Mrs. Nina Wilcox Putnam defended herself Tuesday against what she calls the scandalous accusations of Mrs. Ellsworth Bassett, wife of her business agent, and pleaded with 15 men and women reporters to write "clean stories" about the case so that she might not be crucified before a public which has been reading her stuff for years.

"Now boys—and girls, too—I only ask that you write your stories about me as clean as I have written and as clean as I have lived," Mrs. Putnam pleaded with tears in her voice.

She lay in bed in her suite at the big Hotel Nederland on Fifth avenue, overlooking Central park. She had some sort of lace business over her black hair and a Japanese silk kimono was pulled close about her throat.

Her eyes were red from crying. Her face was very pale, too, and her voice trembled throughout the long plea for a fair chance and an even break.

All Mirth Vanishes.
For once Nina, the humorist, who thought she could find a laugh in almost any situation, was mirthless—except one flash of fun when she paused after a long sentence and said, "Put a full-stop there; you see I'm a writer, myself."

"You can read over anything I ever wrote and you won't find a nasty line in a thousand columns," Mrs. Putnam said. "Some writers may achieve some little temporary success by writing unclean stuff, but in the long run your stories reflect the sort of person you are, and if you're not a clean writer you won't be clean either."

Mrs. Putnam had a nurse at her side and it was quite plain that the

Continued on Page 3, Column 3.

Old Guard Dies Hard.
London, January 8.—While thousands of laborite men and women cheered Ramsay MacDonald's victory address at Albert hall, a group of old line reactionaries were meeting in an anti-socialist demonstration to offset labor's triumph.

Sir Frederick Banbury, "the hardest die-hard in England," was their principal speaker, telling them that the nation would go to the dogs if labor ruled.

"Ramsay MacDonald, as a labor premier, might refuse to quit office even if labor were defeated," Sir Frederick said. "If he did it would give me the greatest pleasure to follow Oliver Cromwell's example and lead the Coldstream guards to parliament to force dissolution."

BY CHARLES M. MCCANN.
London, January 8.—Launching a labor platform which included recognition of Russia, cooperation with the league of nations, and drastic internal reforms, Ramsay MacDonald, who will be speaker if labor rules Britain, has dedicated his party to the task of "establishing peace and creating conditions of peace."

In a fighting speech delivered before a tremendous labor victory meeting in Albert hall, after the opening of parliament Tuesday, MacDonald declared that "there is no limit to the labor horizon."

"A new world is opening," he said. "We are at the threshold of government. We may be called in the next few days to take office. We shall do it."

"Bankrupt Estate."
"We are not anxious to take over the government, for it is a bankrupt estate which we are taking on. But we shall take office because we shirk no responsibility that comes with the evolution of our party."

MacDonald said that the labor party would not take office "to provide general elections," but "in order to do good work." He declared that if cap-

Continued on Page 2, Column 4.

HANCOCK NAMED HEAD OF SCHOOL BOARD FOR 1924

New President Pledges Cooperation and Outlines Expansion Program for New Year.

BIG SAVING SHOWN
IN 1923 BUILDING

First Session of Board Hears Charge of Ob-structionism From Superintendent Sutton.

Election of John T. Hancock, of the eighth ward, as president, and his inaugural promise to continue policies followed during the last year, were high points of the first regular 1924 session of the Atlanta board of education Tuesday afternoon.

W. L. McCalley, Jr., chairman of the finance and building committee of the board, announced that while $115,000 had been saved under contract prices in building 15 bond issue schools during the last year, approximately $360,000 more would be needed immediately to carry out the three other projects now under construction.

Preparation of the 1924 budget, which is to bring a motion to demand a $6,000,000 school building bond issue, was deferred until an adjourned session Friday afternoon.

An amendment to the rules abolishing standing committees, introduced by Mrs. Kate Hess, failed of unanimous consent by only two votes and was tabled until the February meeting, when it can be adopted by vote of the eight commissioners who voted for it Tuesday.

The only definite reference to probable needs for next year was made by Mr. McCalley in submitting to the board a statement of the condition of the building program prepared by A. Ten Eyck Brown, supervising architect.

Big Saving Reported.
Mr. McCalley reported that $115,000 had been saved in carrying out 15 building contracts which have already been completed. He said, however, that approximately $360,000 more would be needed to carry the Girls' High school, Boys' High school and negro junior-senior high school to the stage of completion intended when the bond money was first apportioned.

Mr. McCalley stated that the central wing of the Girls' High school, now under construction at a cost of $128,000, would seat only 120 pupils. An additional wing should be started this month if it is the purpose of the board to make it available for high school use in September, he said.

Urged To Reconsider.
Mr. McCalley was urged in formal resolutions adopted by the board on motion of Mrs. Kate Hess to reconsider the resignation which he had tendered, effective Tuesday. He stated that he would amend it to make the date some time before the February meeting of the board.

Election of Mr. Hancock as president of the board was voted without opposition on motion of Commissioner Eubanks. Mr. Hancock succeeds W. W. Gaines, president for three years, who declined to stand for re-election.

Pledges Cooperation.
Mr. Hancock declared his purpose of seeking to cooperate with the faculty, to which he paid tribute, with the Parent-Teacher associations and the city government. He mentioned the problems to be solved by the board this year, including proposals for a new bond issue, need for more revenue, demands for consolidation of city schools.

Continued on Page 10, Column 4.

Germany To Keep
Tab on Spending
Of Profiteers

Detectives, Disguised as Tourists, Will Lurk at Cabaret Tables.

Berlin, January 8.—As Americans join the allies in an examination into the flight of German capital abroad, Germany is doing a bit of examining herself.

Nearly a dozen agents, in evening clothes, staged a liquor party and arrested Simpson.

Simpson's wife and nine waiters in his employ also were arrested. Simpson declined to say whether he was catering for Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's dinner to Coolidge Tuesday night, and he likewise refused to comment on reports that he was catering at white house functions.

Simpson's arrest, dry officials believed, would throw considerable light upon the means by which prominent officials here are able to supply liquor for their tables at important dinners. Officials seized Simpson's books and records and expected to study them closely for evidence.

Claim He Furnishes Liquor for Parties Given by
"High Officials."

Washington, January 8.—So much has been printed about liquor drinking among the high officials and national society here that the wily dry agents of the district dressed themselves up in evening clothes, tried to look as dignified as possible, and proceeded to frame a party of "high officials," which resulted in the capture of William Henry Simpson, caterer to the most exclusive society here, including cabinet officers.

Nearly a dozen agents, in evening clothes, staged a liquor party and arrested Simpson.

Simpson's wife and nine waiters in his employ also were arrested. Simpson declined to say whether he was catering for Secretary of the Treasury Mellon's dinner to Coolidge Tuesday night, and he likewise refused to comment on reports that he was catering at white house functions.

Simpson's arrest, dry officials believed, would throw considerable light upon the means by which prominent officials here are able to supply liquor for their tables at important dinners. Officials seized Simpson's books and records and expected to study them closely for evidence.

All travelers will henceforth be compelled to show a good reason for quitting Germany. Those going to so-called "cures"—where wine flows freely and the lights are bright—will have to show a doctor's certificate.

Threatened Riots Over Booze Raids Averted by Troops

GIRL ON ERRAND
FALLS TO STREET AND BREAKS NECK

Twelve-Year-Old Decatur Schoolgirl Falls
From Skates and Dies Instantly.

CHIEF BEAVERS BANS
SKATING IN STREETS

Serious Accidents Resulting From Street Skating
Prompts Police to Clamp Lid On.

Losing her balance and falling to the street while skating home from a shopping errand, Nina May Finch, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Finch, 236 Apalache street, died almost instantly from a broken neck late Tuesday afternoon.

No eye-witnesses to the accident had been located Tuesday night, but those who reached the girl's unconscious form within a few moments after she was seen skating, declared that she was alone and that her condition could have been caused only by a fall.

Small cuts found on her chin and jaw were said to have been caused by fragments of glass from a milk bottle which she carried in her hand.

The young girl was the daughter of Herbert W. Finch, who is connected with Walter S. Dillon's law offices in Atlanta. She was a student in the Decatur public school.

Unconscious When Found.
The victim was unconscious when passersby noticed her lying on the sidewalk, her skate-wheels still revolving on their roller bearings. She died within a few minutes without gaining consciousness. Examination by Decatur physicians revealed that her neck was broken.

Besides her parents, she is survived by a sister, Louise Finch, and a brother, H. W. Finch, Jr.

Funeral services will be held Thursday morning, and interment will be in Decatur. Dr. J. M. Haymore, doctor of the First Baptist church at Decatur, will officiate.

A. S. Turner, funeral director, is in charge of arrangements and will announce details of funeral at later date.

Chief of Police James L. Beavers Tuesday morning issued an order banning street skating in the city and instructed officers to be especially strict in its enforcement.

A city ordinance permits skating on the sidewalks, but it is a violation of the ordinance to skate in the streets.

Chief Beavers asked the cooperation of parents by requesting them to restrain children from violating the law.

DR. LEN G. BROUGHTON
BITTEN BY BULL DOG

Jacksonville, Fla., January 8.—Dr. Len G. Broughton, pastor of the First Baptist church of this city and former pastor of the Christ church, London, was bitten by a bulldog while attending Gipsy Smith's revival services in a tabernacle here last night.

Others in the audience experienced some difficulty in making the dog let go.

News Outside the Door
An old gray timber wolf is reported to have been shot in the Berkshires. Those who saw it believed it to be one of a pair seen last February in Sheffield, Mass., and later on Mount Washington. If the wolf was not an escapee from some private preserve, the story of how it made its way down from Arctic Canada would be interesting. Timber wolves are still numerous in some of the western states. Gray wolves are found from Mexico up through the Great Plains and Rocky mountains regions to Alaska and Canada above the Arctic Circle.

Their mixed white and black fur, turning white in the extreme north where the species appears larger, dark in Florida, is prized. Last year the price of wolf skins dropped a little. Reports came of consequent increase in the packs.

Cunning, quickly recognizing a gun, the wolf persists in its efforts to eradicate it. In Texas where it is a warm brown, the wolf lives generally on small game, occasionally raiding a henyard. Wolves were common in New York in colonial days.

J. OTIS SWIFT.
(The World Service, copyright, 1924. (New York World) Press Publishing Co.)

The Weather
Washington—Forecast:
Georgia—Fair and somewhat warmer Wednesday; Thursday unsettled, followed by showers; moderate east and southeast winds.

Local Weather Report.
Highest temperature 54
Lowest temperature 30
Mean temperature 42
Normal temperature 42
Rainfall in past 24 hours, ins. 40
Deficiency since 1st of mo., ins. 55
Deficiency since Jan. 1, ins. 55

STATIONS OF WEATHER
ATLANTA, clear 48 54 .00
Birmingham, clear 48 52 .00
Boston, clear 34 39 .00
Charlotte, clear 48 52 .00
Chicago, clear 42 48 .00
Denver, pt. cloudy 42 56 .00
Des Moines, clear 42 48 .00
Hatteras, clear 42 50 .00
Havre, cloudy 16 32 .00
Jacksonville, clear 52 60 .00
Kansas City, clear 48 58 .00
Memphis, clear 48 56 .00
Miami, cloudy 70 70 .24
New Orleans, clear 48 54 .00
North Platte, clear 34 44 .00
San Francisco, clear 52 56 .00
St. Louis, clear 48 60 .00
Salem, Lake City, snow 24 28 .00
Tampa, clear 60 64 .00
Tulsa, clear 34 40 .00
Vicksburg, clear 52 58 .00
Washington, clear 48 54 .00

C. F. von HERRMANN,
Meteorologist, Weather Bureau.

raids may lead to bloodshed at any time," Galligan said. "I am unable to leave my bed, and my force is unable to cope with the situation."

Throughout the day Young's friends, twelve in number, all of whom have been associated with him in recent raids, manned the machine guns while trial of his leader, accused of assaulting Paul Corder, progressed. At 6:30 o'clock the jury of five acquitted him.

Knocked Down Corder.
Young twice knocked down Corder, a merchant, last week, during an argument over the arrest of W. A. Brady, member of the state legislature and prominent dry worker, on a charge of illegal possession of liquor.

When questioned Young said that he and his men had been deputized by Federal Officer Gus Simmons, who led the wholesale raids in this vicinity three weeks ago.

Young is known in southern Illinois as "a bad man." He shot and killed Luko Vukovic, in November, 1920, while assisting an officer raid Vukovic's home at Madison, Ill., and was acquitted of the murder charge. In the same year he was charged with a statutory offense against the 10-year-old daughter of a Stoughton, Ill., coal miner, whose home he raided. Young claimed this was a "bootleggers' frame up" and record of disposal of the case was never made public.

No Regard For Law.
Prohibition agents know Herrin and the other coal mining towns of Williamson county as the wettest spot in America. The miners have no regard for the law, it is said, and brew and sell liquor as they please. Dry agents began raiding the shabby homes, breaking stills and confiscating "white mule" and wine back in 1921, and shortly afterward the Ku Klux Klan is reported to have interested itself in making the county dry. But the bloody days of the coal mine riots and the Herrin massacre followed, and no dry agent took a chance on entering the district for many months.

In December, Simmons, J. F. Leffer and Victor Armistead, federal agents, were sent here to clean up the county. They enrolled 350 men, most of them admittedly members of the Klan, to help them and this imposing through force raided hundreds of homes and saloons in the mining cities. In many cases fighting occurred, and several men were shot. Persons whose homes were entered claim the officers stole money and jewels, which has served as a means of exciting general indignation against the federal agents.

Fifty persons have been arrested in raids during the last 24 hours, making a total of about 250 arrests within a month.

Noses Cugel, owner of an amusement park which was raided by the dry agents, Monday night, swore out a warrant charging four of the deputies with the theft of $700 in jewelry and money during the raid.

VENIZELOS RECOVERS FROM INDISPOSITION

London, January 8.—Ex-Premier Venizelos, of Greece, has recovered from the indisposition with which he was seized during the initial session of the new assembly and seems to be planning to become foreign minister in the new cabinet, says a dispatch to Reuters from Athens today. "Everything," adds the dispatch, "points to the definite overthrow of the Glucksburg dynasty."

COURT COMES TO AID OF GOLDWYN PICTURES

New York, January 8.—The United States circuit court today affirmed the action of the federal district court in restraining Samuel Goldwyn from using his name in motion picture advertising without the explanatory caption "not now with Goldwyn Pictures corporation." The Goldwyn Pictures corporation is requesting an injunction. While a man has a natural right to use of his name in his own business, he may deprive himself by contract of the exclusive right to its use, the court ruled. Whether Goldwyn completely surrendered the use of his name, it remarked, had not been determined in the lower court.

OIL TAXES WILL BE PAID OBREGON

New York, January 8.—Instructions were dispatched today to representatives of American oil companies in Mexico directing the method to be followed in paying the Mexican oil production taxes on Thursday.

While the association of producers of petroleum in Mexico, which forwarded the instructions, declined to disclose their nature, because of the "ticklish situation in Mexico," it was understood that all payments would be made to the Obregon government and that no notice would be taken, at this time, of the decree of Adolfo de la Huerta, revolutionary leader, that the taxes be paid to him.

Officials of the Pan-American Petroleum and Transport company expressed no concern over the shutting down, by direction of the Mexican rebels, of the company's wells and pipe lines in two fields near Tuxpam, comprising about 25 per cent of the corporation's Mexican production of 100,000 barrels daily.

It was pointed out that no fear need be felt as to the revolutionary forces damaging the property and that plenty of petroleum is available in storage to prevent possible delay to deliveries.

While suspension of the Vera Cruz cable cut off communication from that point, oil circles continued to receive messages from Tuxpam, which is the big oil export station in Mexico.

Conflicting reports as to which side had possession of Tuxpam, another important oil port, were received in news dispatches but in oil circles it was believed that the revolutionary forces still maintained control of that port.

HUSBAND-SLAYER ADMITS SHE HID GUN IN WOODSHED

Sumter, S. C., January 8.—Declaring that her husband, Dr. Archie China, a prominent physician-banker, was fatally shot Sunday morning when she grappled with him over a pistol, Mrs. Lou China, middle-aged society woman, admitted hiding the pistol in a neighbor's woodshed, and gave no explanation of her failure to notify the authorities or neighbors of the tragedy, Dr. H. M. Stuckey, her physician, revealed today.

Dr. Stuckey said that Mrs. China confessed her part in the shooting to him last night at the local hospital where she was taken in an apparent state of collapse following the finding of Dr. China's dead body in his bathroom, with two bullet wounds in the head, early yesterday.

Going to her husband's bathroom to dress, because it was the warmest room in the house, Mrs. China saw her husband pick up the revolver as she entered the door, Dr. Stuckey quoted her as saying. She grappled with him in fear that he intended to shoot her, and in the struggle he fell, shot through the head, according to the physician's account of her story, not knowing how badly he was wounded.

REV. A. J. BARTON MADE LEADER OF MISSIONS

Alexandria, La., January 8.—The Rev. A. J. Barton, chairman of the commission of social service of the Southern Baptist convention, and member of the national executive and legislative committees of the Anti-Saloon League of America, announced today his resignation as pastor of Calvary Baptist church here to become general superintendent of missions in Missouri, with headquarters in Kansas City. The new post was tendered Mr. Barton by the executive board of the Missouri Baptist convention.

MOROS WILL BE GIVEN OFFICES IN MINDANAO

Manila, January 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—As an aid to the handling of the difficult problems in administering the Moro peoples of these islands, an increasing number of Moros will be appointed to office in the provinces of Mindanao and Sulu hereafter, Governor General Leonard Wood announced today.

Two Atlanta Banks Name New Officials Tuesday

Top, left to right: J. J. Ragan and R. S. Pringle, new directors of Fulton National bank. Bottom row, left, George H. Lanier, elected to board of directors Tuesday of the Fourth National bank, and, right, G. C. Evans, newly-elected cashier of the Fulton.

Shareholders of two Atlanta banks, the Fulton National and the Fourth National, at annual meetings, Tuesday, elected officers and directors for 1934 and were apprised of conditions and business progress achieved by the banks during the past year.

Both institutions, from an increased business and deposits standpoint, enjoyed phenomenal gains during the past year, their report of conditions as of December 31, 1933, showing them to have surpassed the preceding year's reports by substantial margins.

ELECT NEW DIRECTORS.

George H. Lanier, of West Point, widely-known cotton mill executive and business man, was elected to the board of directors of the Fourth National, to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Isaac Shoen, prominent Atlanta, who retired because of failing health. This was the only important change voted by the shareholders of this bank, the officers and directorate being re-elected.

At the Fulton National, two new directors, R. S. Pringle, Atlanta architect, and J. J. Ragan, of the Ragan-Malone company, were elected to the directorate, and G. C. Evans was elected to the position of cashier. All other officials and directors were re-elected.

Architect Named.
Mr. Pringle is senior member of the firm of Pringle & Smith, architects, and has been a resident of Atlanta for the last 18 years. The new quarters of the Fulton National bank were designed by him as well as many other important local buildings.

Mr. Ragan was born in Atlanta and has been identified with the commercial life of this city for many years. He is president of the Ragan-Malone company and is one of Atlanta's outstanding business men.

Except for two years in 1917 and 1918 when he was in the army, Mr. Evans has been with the Fulton National bank since it began business in 1910. He formerly held the position of assistant cashier and by reason of his excellent service and ability was promoted.

Total deposits at the Fourth National as of December 31, 1933, were $28,448,075.88, while deposits for 1932 during the same period, were $25,455,076.87, which show an increase of $2,993,000.71 for the year.

TWO GIRLS SAVE FATHER, ASSAILED BY INSANE MAN

New York, January 8.—Fourteen-year-old Josephine O'Leary and her sister, Julia, 10, saved the life of their father, John O'Leary, when they fought off an insane man who attacked him with a hammer, a hatchet and an ice pick.

William Alderman, O'Leary's brother-in-law and a war veteran, was the assailant. He could easily have killed the children, but the fury of their attack disconcerted him and he finally fled, leaving O'Leary with wounds that may yet prove fatal.

Alderman became suddenly insane at the O'Leary home after intermittent brooding spells which covered a period of several weeks.

FAVOR WOODBINE ROAD FROM GASOLINE TAX

Folkston, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—The plan on foot to use Charlton county's portion of the gasoline tax in conjunction with county site to county site fund, and build a new road to Woodbine, the new county seat of Camden, is meeting with approval here.

LABOR TO BRING PEACE TO WORLD

Continued from First Page.

ital ties the country the responsibility will rest on "panic mongers," and not the labor party.

"Our aim is to try to settle the difficulties besetting Europe and the whole world," he said. "My task, and that of my colleagues, will be to mobilize all men and women of good will and sound judgment, and our first duty is to establish peace and create conditions of peace."

A labor party in Downing street is the one thing required to give power to the peace forces of all sections of Europe," MacDonald declared.

Plan Cooperation.
Cooperation with the league of nations is also a plank in the labor platform. The laborite leader said that labor, in power, would "do its best to complete the structure of the league of nations, and use it unreservedly as the instrument in securing international justice."

"The pompous barriers which are obstructing the settlement of difficulties with Russia will be ended," he said.

MacDonald declared that labor would break any trusts, monopolies or corners in any essential building materials which prevented the building of houses.

"There is no end to the labor horizon," he declared, adding "that is my faith."

"My colleagues and myself will do what we can to make our generation contribute substantially to the well being of the human race," MacDonald said.

—EAT—

Imperial Farm Sausage
100% Pure Pork
Doster & Taylor
West 2662 200 Lee St.

Alleged Slayer Of School Mate Freed on Bond

Texarkana, Ark., January 8.—J. W. Wimberly, Jr., Kimper Military institute student, of Arcadia, La., charged with murder in connection with the fatal wounding of J. M. Hawkins, Jr., of Shreveport, La., a schoolmate, was ordered released under $1,500 bond after the hearing of habeas corpus proceedings in county court here this afternoon.

Wimberly previously had been ordered held without bail at a hearing in municipal court.

CARRIE JACOBS BOND IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Hollywood, Cal., January 8.—Carrie Jacobs Bond, song composer, is seriously ill at her residence here, according to an announcement by her secretary today. Mrs. Bond has been ordered by physicians to take a sea voyage and if she is sufficiently recovered, will sail January 29 for Hawaii.

Drive for Members.

Discussion of plans for a drive for 1,000 members for the George Washington Colony of the Knights of America, newly-organized patriotic body, will be held in the McKenzie building tonight, according to a statement by Guy W. Himebaugh, chairman of publicity.

MUSGROVE PLANNING TO FIGHT UNDERWOOD

Montgomery, Ala., January 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—L. B. Musgrove, of Jasper, Ala., said tonight that plans for his active campaign for Alabama's democratic presidential delegation against Senator Oscar W. Underwood were rapidly shaping although he was leaving them in the hands of his supporters.

"Senator Underwood will have to really beat me in this race and I believe it will be a task. Alabama will not favor the preferential primary law that was rammed down their throats by the recent legislature," Mr. Musgrove said.

"Of course, the cornerstone of my campaign will be prohibition. Then, too, labor will line up with me. I am assured of these two great forces. And W. J. Bryan in a message asked me to oppose Mr. Underwood, although I don't expect him to come to Alabama in person in my interest as he is already booked for months in advance for lectures."

Mr. Musgrove left tonight for Birmingham. Campaign headquarters will later be opened both in Montgomery and Birmingham, he said.

BOIFEUILLET SPEAKER BEFORE MASONIC CLUB

John T. Boifeuille, noted southern orator and member of the Georgia public service commission, will speak at a meeting of the Atlanta Masonic club at Peacock cafe at 12:30 o'clock Wednesday.

CRIPPLE ENDS LIFE OVER ILL HEALTH

Continued from First Page.

Freeman, Roscoe Chastain and M. B. Breen, all of whom worked on the fifth floor of the same building, at Pryor and Mitchell streets. They broke in the door to find Goldberg's body lying against the desk with a stream of blood spouting from the wound. The bullet entered the right temple. The ambulance of Harry G. Poole made a record run to Grady hospital with the wounded man, but physicians were unable to save him.

Examination by detectives of the 32-caliber pistol showed that several efforts had been made by Goldberg to shoot himself, each shell showing a Cent in the cap, indicating that the gun had snapped when he attempted to fire it.

Goldberg, who was 29 years of age, is survived by his brother, for whom he worked, and a sister, Mrs. Sonia Demmenmon, who is in Europe.

His body was removed to the chapel of Greenberg & Bond, where there will be a coroner's inquest at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, there being no eye-witnesses to the shooting.

Dumas Family Reunion.
A family reunion and birthday party, attended by 50 of the most prominent citizens of Buckhead, marked the 49th birthday of J. W. Dumas, Monday evening.

Seasonable and Substantial Foods

GOOD THINGS TO EAT THAT WILL GIVE YOU THE STRENGTH AND VIGOR NECESSARY TO WITHSTAND THE COLD, DREARY DAYS OF JANUARY AND RESIST SICKNESS.

CUT SPAGHETTI—25c
In Bulk, 3 lbs. for...
Look up your cook books and you will find many ways to prepare and serve this fine food.

Beechnut Specials
GRAPE JELLY—
QUINCE JELLY—
CRABAPPLE JELLY—
STRAWBERRY JAM—
Large sizes of these, one kind or assorted. Selling regularly at 50c per jar. Reduced to Jars, 35c; 3 Jars for...$1.00

CRACKER BRAND PURE GEORGIA CANE SYRUP—25c
Cans...
PLAIN BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—Nothing finer or more wholesome, 3 lbs. for 25c
FRESHLY GROUND GRAHAM FLOUR—A delightful change.
12-lb. Sacks...60c
KAMPER'S BRAN ROLLS—For your health's sake.
Dozen...20c
CINNAMON ROLLS—Especially fine for children. Lots of raisins. Doz. 15c
SLICED BREAKFAST BACON—Very appetizing. Splendid value at 29c per lb.; 3 lbs. for...85c

"KAMPER'S BEST" Pastry Flour
24-lb. Bags...$1.15

KINGCO FIG JAM
Nourishing, Palatable and Good for Your Health.
Cans...10c
FINE TABLE FIGS
Pound...40c
OUR OWN FRUIT CAKE
We have just a little of our best quality left which we are selling at just half price.
Dollar Quality at, per pound...50c
KAMPER'S GARDEN TEA
Pound...79c

If you are so unfortunate as to be sick or feeling badly, you will find Special Foods here that will nourish.

Battle Creek Sanitarium Health Foods

"ZO" and "VITA BITS"
Especially Recommended
GLUTEN BREAD—HEUDEBERT'S GLUTEN BREADS

Serve Kamper's Special Coffee
At the Mah-Jongg Parties and other functions. Stimulates without bad effects. Makes the eyes bright and the brain quick.
Pound...45c 3 lbs. for...$1.25

LADY PEAS—Pound...15c
YELLOW SPLIT PEAS—Pound...15c
GREEN KERN—Pound...60c
PEARL TAPIOCA—In Bulk, 2 lbs. for...25c

NAVIGATOR KIPPERED HERRING—3 Cans for...39c

TWO Kamper's STORES

MAIN STORE
492-498 Peachtree
HEmlock 5000
10th ST. STORE
820 Peachtree
HEmlock 5700

KAMPER'S ATLANTA

A Street Has a Hard Job Now

Carrying the light, horse-drawn traffic of a few years ago was one thing. Carrying the swiftly moving automobiles and pounding motor trucks of today is quite another.

How much of the trouble with street pavement in your town comes from not recognizing the difference?

Just as faster and heavier railway trains compelled heavy, modern rails and roadbed, so the heavy pounding traffic of today calls for rigid Concrete Streets.

Experience shows that Concrete pavement can be built to stand any kind of traffic, almost indefinitely, with minimum repairs.

Easy riding, skid-proof, hole-proof, permanent—that is Concrete.

Our Booklet R-4 tells other interesting things about Concrete Streets. Write for your copy.

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION
Hurt Building
ATLANTA, GA.
A National Organization to Improve and Extend the Uses of Concrete Offices in 27 Other Cities

85

Values to $12.50

Big Special lot of Daniel's fine shoes

FINE black or tan calf and kid shoes. Not every size in every style but every size in whole lot. You'll get great values We'll fit you---that's sure

Daniel Bros. Company
Home of Hart Schaffner & Marx fine clothes
45-47-49 Peachtree

HUBIG'S FAMOUS HONEY-FRUIT PIES
THE MORE YOU EAT THE MORE YOU WANT
10¢ 20¢ 30¢
AT YOUR GROCERS

DON'T BAKE—buy Clausen's Cake
Sold by Quality Grocers.

COURT TO DETERMINE
STATUS OF RECEIVER

Conflict of authority in the appointment of a receiver for the Gainesville & Northwestern railroad is claimed in a bill for injunction filed by John D. Patterson, of Gainesville, in United States district court here Tuesday, and scheduled for hearing before Federal Judge Samuel H. Sibley next Saturday.

The petition filed by Mr. Patterson, who was appointed receiver of the railroad by the federal court, seeks to prevent J. H. Lambert, of Gainesville, named as receiver by the state court, from assuming such duties. The petition also requests that W. B. Veazey and Gordon C. Carson, of Gainesville and Savannah, respectively, be enjoined from interfering with Mr. Patterson in the performance of his duties.

Making and Taking

The winter fun in photography embraces the making as well as the taking of pictures—and we shall be pleased, not merely to furnish the material, but to give you intelligent advice as to its use.

Kodak and Graflex cameras of every style always in stock.

Developing, printing and enlarging of the superior kind.

Eastman Kodak Co.
(Glenn Photo Stock Co.)
163 Peachtree St.

Interest Notice

Please bring your Pass Book to the bank to have your January interest posted.

Deposits made on or before January 10th will draw interest from January 1st.

0/0 Interest
Paid

Georgia Savings Bank
& Trust Co.

Atlanta's Oldest Savings Bank

Members of the Federal Reserve System

Assets Over $3,500,000.00

74 Peachtree (Formerly Flatiron Bldg.)

AGASCO COKE

A hot fire, no smoke, little ash, a high efficiency fuel.

Cost compares favorably with coal.

Adapted to any standard furnace.

Made by Atlanta Gas Light Company and distributed only by

THE R.O. CAMPBELL CO. 5000
IVy 5000 Seven Yards

REPORT OF CONDITION OF THE ATLANTA NATIONAL BANK

ASSETS
1. Loans and discounts, including redemptions, acceptances of other banks, and foreign bills of exchange or drafts sold with indorsement of this bank (except those shown in b and c)	$20,406,291.53
2. Acceptances of other banks discounted	300,000.00
3. Total loans	$20,706,291.53
4. Overdrafts, unsecured	16,201.89
5. Customers' liability account of "Acceptances" executed by this bank and by other banks for account of this bank, and now outstanding	300,000.00
6. U. S. Government securities owned:	500,000.00
a. Deposited to secure circulation of U. S. bonds (par value)	$1,000,000.00
b. All other United States Government securities (including premiums, if any)	820,000.00
7. Total	$1,820,000.00
8. Other bonds, stocks, securities, etc.	427,498.05
9. Banking house, furniture and fixtures, $50,000.00	850,000.00
10. Real estate owned other than banking house	122,112.90
11. Lawful reserve with Federal Reserve Bank	1,385,982.22
12. Items with Federal Reserve Bank in process of collection	1,492,726.18
13. Cash in vault and amount due from national banks	1,452,726.83
14. Amount due from State banks, bankers, and trust companies in the United States, bankers, and trust companies in foreign countries	1,278,886.63
15. Exchanges for clearing house	1,900,809.28
16. Checks on other banks in the same city or town as reporting bank other than item 12	20,425.73
17. Total of items 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13	$5,150,166.07
18. a. Checks and drafts on banks (including Federal Reserve Bank) held at city or town of reporting bank	25,389.20
b. Miscellaneous cash items	157,918.20
19. Redemption fund with U. S. Treasurer and due from U. S. Treasurer	50,000.00
Total	$31,214,531.85
LIABILITIES
17. Capital stock paid in	$1,000,000.00
18. Surplus fund	$1,500,000.00
19. Undivided profits	901,589.05
a. Reserved for interest and taxes accrued	40,000.00
b. Reserved for interest and taxes accrued	901,589.05
20. Circulating notes outstanding	985,300.00
21. Amount due to national banks	1,377,536.79
22. Amount due to State banks, bankers, and trust companies in the United States and foreign countries (other than included in items 21 and 22)	5,788,003.11
23. Certified checks outstanding	25,144.90
24. Cashier's checks outstanding	28,949.73
25. a. Checks and drafts on banks (including Federal Reserve Bank) held at city or town of reporting bank	$5,220,986.33
b. Demand deposits (other than bank deposits) subject to Reserve (deposits payable within 30 days)	157,918.20
26. Individual deposits subject to check	11,943,040.60
27. Certificates of deposit due in less than 30 days (other than for money borrowed)	482,602.81
28. Dividends unpaid	40,090.00
29. Total of demand deposits (other than bank deposits) subject to Reserve, items 25, 26, 27 and 28	$12,475,000.17
30. Time deposits subject to Reserve (deposits payable after 30 days, or subject to 30 days or more notice, and postal savings)	7,125,386.19
31. Other time deposits	5,278.91
32. Postal savings deposits	$7,120,666.10
33. United States deposits (other than postal savings), including War Loan deposit account and deposits of United States disbursing officers	250,000.00
34. Notes and bills rediscounted, including acceptances of other banks and foreign bills of exchange or drafts sold with indorsement of this bank	1,450,000.00
35. "Acceptances" executed by this bank for customers, and to furnish dollar exchange	300,000.00
Total	$31,214,531.85

STATE OF GEORGIA—COUNTY OF FULTON, ss:
I, R. B. Cunningham, cashier of the above-named bank, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.
Correct—Attest: R. B. CUNNINGHAM, Cashier.
W. L. PEEL, Directors.
Subscribed and sworn to before me this 8th day of January, 1929.
(Notary Public.)

COOLIDGE OBJECTS TO GARNER'S PLAN

Washington, January 8.—President Coolidge regards the surtax provisions of the Garner democratic tax program as disregarding the principle that the government should encourage investment of capital in business enterprises rather than in tax-free securities.

The chief executive told visitors today that although he had not made a detailed study or received the advice of experts on the Garner program, he believed the high surtax on the new house was a foregone conclusion and therefore afforded no excitement.

Even now, although it seems certain that another fortnight will see a labor government in office, some other development is not entirely excluded and Ramsey MacDonald, the labor leader, in his speech tonight was careful not to count his chickens in advance, and doubtless it was for this reason that he declined to be drawn into a program speech.

The recent attempt to promote an agreement between the liberals and conservatives to prevent labor from taking office was scotched, but not altogether killed. Under-ground maneuvers for the same purpose are continuing and all sorts of rumors are current concerning various politicians and party sections said to be engaged with this idea, none of which, however, can be verified with any certainty, and it is not likely that labor will be able to power and that its severest trial will come later.

Mr. Asquith's dictum that he will not lift a finger to save the present government from its fate would not necessarily bind him or his party, once the labor administration was actually in office. The attitude which Mr. Asquith has adopted on such a debated constitutional question as the right of the prime minister to demand the dissolution of parliament shows that he has in view the strong possibility that the first labor government would quickly meet defeat, and that it would be the king's province to decline to grant the request of the labor premier for a dissolution, and, instead, to summon the leader of the next largest party, namely, the liberal party, to form a government.

Mr. MacDonald's speech tonight was generally interpreted as indicating a strong sense of responsibility and as having a conservative tendency so far as the extreme articles of the labor platform are concerned with the nation to rely largely on a policy of appeasement in foreign affairs, combined with social reforms with respect to unemployment and housing, which the liberal party could take no exception. Mr. MacDonald frankly admitted his intention to go one step at a time. If, when in power, his party adheres to this line, it may have a longer life than many expect.

About 2,000 face and 300 bath towels are stolen from one of New York's largest hotels.

BRYAN-HATTON TO THE FRONT

Peace and Quiet
Mark Opening
Of Parliament

London, January 8.—(By the Associated Press.)—The fifth parliament of the present reign opened today in quiet and uneventful manner, apart from some natural effervescence on the part of the labor members, elated at the prospect of their party taking office as the government, which on a few months ago appeared to be quite a distant prospect. The reelection of John Henry Whitley as speaker of the new house was a foregone conclusion and therefore afforded no excitement.

The senate adopted a resolution designed to make public the position in the market of wheat speculators and commission firms dealing in futures.

Decision was reached by the senate elections committee to bring from Texas the ballots in the contested election of Senator Mayfield, democrat.

Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, denounced the Bok peace plan and Elihu Root, chairman of the committee of award in a speech in the senate.

Both senate and house agricultural committees took up the question of farm legislation, and Secretary Wallace conferred with western senators and representatives on the subject of grazing lands.

Because every graduate goes to a good position. Careful training tells its own story.

To be young, healthy and poor is a blessing, an asset to be old and dependent is a calamity.

Our training will give you a good position and happiness in your young days and independence in old age.

Start any time, or come direct from work for an hour. Life Scholarship, day school, $50. Night school, 1 month, $25. Phone, 164 Whitehall, IVy 8787, Atlanta.

Bryan-Hatton Business College
Brightest and Best Equipped in Ga.

ASPRIN

Beware of Imitations!

FINES IMPOSED ON ARKANSAS
IN BOOZE CASES

Batesville, Ark., January 8.—Fines ranging from $25 to $100 each were imposed against nine Jackson county residents at the initial hearing in federal court here today of cases growing out of a "round-up" by federal agents of alleged prohibition law violators which followed the recent surrender by Sylvester Stillwell, an alleged whisky seller, of what purported to be a "customers' list."

Will Corley, under indictment on a charge of manufacturing, transporting and selling whisky, failed to appear at the morning session of court. Judge Jacob Frieber ordered his bond, aggregating $4,000, forfeited and an alias capias issued for him.

John H. Keel, a former state senator, was among those against whom fines were imposed today. He was assessed $100 and costs.

Miss Nellie Hopkins, of Grubbs, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of selling liquor. Hearing on her case was deferred.

NATIONAL THEATER URGED FOR CHILDREN

The Day in Washington

The British embassy asked for information regarding recent seizure of British liquor ships outside the three-mile limit.

House republican leaders expressed confidence that they could press to a vote legislation before action on a soldiers' bonus.

The senate passed a bill to create a bureau of civil aeronautics in the commerce department.

Senator Copeland, democrat, New York, told the senate Secretary Mellon was trying to sandbag the bonus by appealing to the country's pocket-book.

The senate adopted a resolution designed to make public the position in the market of wheat speculators and commission firms dealing in futures.

Decision was reached by the senate elections committee to bring from Texas the ballots in the contested election of Senator Mayfield, democrat.

Senator McCormick, republican, Illinois, denounced the Bok peace plan and Elihu Root, chairman of the committee of award in a speech in the senate.

Both senate and house agricultural committees took up the question of farm legislation, and Secretary Wallace conferred with western senators and representatives on the subject of grazing lands.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Views Conflict
On Merger Plans
Of U.S. Railways

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of itself, if ownership found it feasible and advantageous.

The arguments tomorrow are expected to deal with New England railroad conditions and in the latter part of the week with western and southern railroads.

Spanish Paper Suspended.

Madrid, January 8.—The Spanish military directorate has suspended the publication of the Actualidad Financiera, Spain's foremost financial review, and has decreed exile for the Marquis Cortina, former minister of marine and public works, and a senator, for writing an article dealing with the so-called tariff decree.

Washington, January 8.—Widely divergent views on railroad consolidation proposals were argued before the interstate commerce commission today at hearings devoted to final arguments on the merger plan by representatives of railroads, communities and interests affected.

H. T. Newcomb, counsel for the Delaware & Hudson, broke new ground in the proceedings by attacking the entire theory and method of the consolidation proposals, while W. A. Colston, vice president of the Nickel Plate, asked the commission to do nothing in its consolidation steps which would prevent that railroad and associate and neighboring systems from proceeding with even wider amalgamation projects than have yet been attempted.

Mr. Newcomb declared that there was no likelihood that a forced merger of strong with weak railroads would give better public service or a stiffer financial structure for transportation. The commerce commission, he contended, by tentatively suggesting creation of 18 or 20 merger corporations to take in all existing main-line railroads, had far exceeded the spirit and purpose of the Esch-Cummings law. He asked it to refrain from taking any steps in the plan which might imply future danger to the Delaware & Hudson.

The Nickel Plate system, Mr. Colston said, looked forward to a possible consolidation of the Erie, Chesapeake & Ohio, and Virginian systems, whereas these have been tentatively placed in different organizations by the commission. He asked that the corporations concerned be left free to make up such a railroad system, which would have 18,000 miles of trackage, and be fit in resources and geographical characteristics to compete with the existing Pennsylvania and New York Central systems. Such a grouping, he said, should be left to develop of

Love's Supreme Sacrifice

"RESOLUTELY I wedged myself forward in the intense crowd until I commanded an unobstructed view.

"A groan of amazed anguish burst from me at the unbelievable thing I saw.

"There upon the foliage encircled stage kneeled my wife, her slender form revealed by the incredibly scanty costume and the searching spotlight. As I looked, her perfect figure came to life and moved into the rhythms of a dance so wildly, primitively beautiful that the onlookers will remember it till their dying day.

"There are dances and dances, the sacred dances of old Hawaii and the sensational dances of the Ziegfeld Follies; but this was a revelation of sensuous tropical beauty, of complete abandon, and of maddening passion.

"Half crazed with horror—with unseeing eyes I stumbled from that accursed place into the unutterable beauty of the tropic night while my bride of a few short weeks—she who bore my name—who had sworn to me she would never dance again, basked half-naked in the thunderous applause of the seething, howling mob of leering men."

What heartless tricks fate plays. How prone is human nature to jump to unwarranted conclusions. And withal how natural it was for him to think that this girl who had a strain of Polynesian blood in her veins had forgotten decency and love and sacred promise under the alluring call of the tropics to dance the dance of her cannibal ancestors to the lilt and beat of savage South Sea music.

This tale of the love of a tropical girl for a man of the temperate zone will move you as you have seldom been moved. When you have finished reading it you will say that it is one of the strongest, most beautiful and inspiring stories you ever read. With her you will go down into the depths, with her you will soar to the heights and with her you will exult that her sacrifice was not in vain. Be sure and read "Her Savage Blood" in True Story Magazine for February.

Throbbing, Soul-Stirring Stories From Life

Here are just a few of the wonderful features in the February issue of True Story Magazine

"A Second-Hand Bride"—Poor, foolish, self-deceived wife! She thought marriage vows were made to be treated lightly—that letting another man make love to her in secret was only a bit of innocent philandering. But she quickly found that the spark of passion, once aroused, may become a flaming torch that consumes the soul and blasts all hope of happiness.

"The Shadow of the Past"—She lived in a homestead, a widow, unprotected, alone. Her baby boy was dying. A man rode up to the door and she pleaded with him to go for the doctor. He agreed to go—for a "price." It was a case of life or death for her baby, and in order to save her baby, she agreed to his base bargain. The son grew up, and when he learned what had happened—

"The Stain of Scandal"—Will a good woman imperil her honor to save her children from the stinging lash of scandal-wagging tongues? Her husband had ceased to love her. A younger girl, physically riper, more beautiful, had come into his life. The scandal became notorious. But here was a wife and mother who dared so grandly for the sake of her children that she made even the scandal-mongers hang their heads in shame.

"A Soul For Sale"—Souls are the cheapest things in New York. Ask the girl who is young, attractive, without money, friends or home. Here is the story of a girl, faced with dishonor, who had to make "the great decision." You may blame her a little—you will pity her much. But you'll also rejoice that a girl of courage can beat the devil at his own game, and in the end find happiness.

"Mother Love"—Out of the stormy night she came—daughter of the banker, belle of the younger set, whose parents thought her safely away at school. Clinging to the woman physician, between sobs that seemed to tear her heart in shreds, she poured out her pitiful story, the old, old pitiful story. Read how perilous for this girl was the path of folly, how hard the way to atonement, yet how certainly she proves that no matter what happens—a girl can "come back."

"She Married For Money"—He took advantage of the fact that she was an orphan, without money or friends, and caused her to lose her position so he could get her into his power. Then he tricked her into his home with promises of getting her another job, but she discovered his treachery in time and escaped from the house.

But he was not finished with her. Read how he plotted to force her to his will and how a carefully schemed "marriage" didn't turn out the way he had planned.

Dramas From Life

More thrilling than the fiction plots of the greatest novelists and playwrights are the life-dramas unfolding around us every day. How little we really know about the men and women we see around us! If we could search their hearts and minds, and uncover their hidden thoughts and motives; if we could penetrate the armor that guards the secrets of their soul—what tremendous stories we would find there! What epics of love and sorrow; of self-sacrifice and failure; of shame and degradation; of brave battling for happiness against the forces of injustice and wrong!

It is only as men and women find courage to reveal their inner lives that we come to know their stories. It is such stories that find their way to the pages of True Story Magazine. Watch for them. Every issue is filled with new, true life-stories of tremendous interest that you cannot afford to miss.

Other Startling Life Stories In This Issue Are:

"Two Kinds of Kisses"
"In Death's Shadow"
"In Every Woman's Heart"
"My Twice-Wed Husband"
"The Empty Heart"
"Blind Love"
"Back From Hell"
"Which Was His Wife?"

How True Story Originated

The gigantic strides that True Story Magazine has made in the past few months is conclusive evidence that Bernarr Macfadden has given the public the kind of magazine it wants.

True Story Magazine originated from just such chapters of every day life as you will find in this startling issue. Persons like yourself—the man sitting next to you—the woman across from you—your next door neighbor—are the people really responsible for True Story Magazine.

You know that Bernarr Macfadden is recognized as the greatest living expert on physical culture. Thousands of people annually seek his advice on intimate personal matters. They lay bare their hearts in the hope that he can give them help. And it was from these real confessions from bared hearts that Mr. Macfadden got his idea for True Story Magazine.

He saw in a magazine of this kind a way to help others avoid the heart-breaking mistakes of life as they were told to him. He believed that he could help society in general if he published these vivid, true stories of the mistakes, successes, joys and tragedies of living, breathing men and women like yourself. And thus True Story Magazine was born.

Perhaps you have wondered why nearly two million people eagerly wait for this amazing magazine each month. You will find the answer in the February True Story. Get your copy from your nearest news dealer. In case he cannot supply you, use the coupon below.

Then, before she could realize what he was about to do he knelt before her on the moonlit sand. "Is it after all too late?" he pleaded. "I did not know, but—can you ever—ever—forgive me?"

True Story Magazine a Great Moral Force

Through its true chronicles of the mistakes and tragedies of others, True Story Magazine acts as a powerful constructive moral force. It exposes the snares, temptations and pitfalls of life. It sounds a warning, sets up the sign posts of danger, for the innocent, the uninformed, the weak and erring to see. It is a challenge to the forces of evil. It lights the "way of return" to the fallen.

Leading Clergymen Endorse True Story Magazine Read These Letters

A minister meets so many difficult problems, comes in close touch with so many heartaches, he finds comfort and inspiration in reading TRUE STORY and glimpsing the heart-throbs of the other fellow. Such a magazine clarifies man's vision and makes life worth while.

Fiction is interesting reading but its effect is superficial. True stories get under the skin and bring us into touch with real life. This magazine should have a vast influence in building character and shaping destiny.

Rev. George M. Elsbree, 1922 Hunt Ave., New York City

I greatly enjoy a True Story full of "pep" and encouragement to travelers through life. Such a story is a benediction and very helpful. The great human heart craves such inspiring help that eventually leads to victory. When such inspiration comes from a large hearted, clean magazine it is bound to bring success into many a life.

Rev. John J. Monro, 1060 Cauldwell Ave., New York City

I can most heartily endorse the purpose of the TRUE STORY MAGAZINE, for there was never more great need to get away from the fanciful and fictitious and back to the truth than at the present time.

Rev. P. H. Milliken, 50 Morningside Ave., New York City

Use This Coupon If You Cannot Get It at Your Newsstand

TRUE STORY MAGAZINE

1926 Broadway, New York

I am enclosing 25c (coin or stamps) for which please send me a copy of the February issue of True Story Magazine. (Note: If you desire to enter a subscription to receive True Story Magazine each month, check your choice and enclose proper amount) () 4 months' subscription, $1.00; () 12 months' subscription, $3.00.

Name

Occupation

Street

City State

The name and location of my newsdealer is

True Story Magazine

February Issue Now on Sale at All Newsstands

OTHER MACFADDEN PUBLICATIONS YOU WILL LIKE

If you enjoy True Story you are certain to like the kindred magazines, True Romances and Dream World.

These publications appear on the newsstands at ten-day intervals and thus provide our readers with a full month of fascinating reading.

Each Month Ask for

True Story on the 1st
Dream World on the 15th
True Romances on the 25th

More Than One Million Six Hundred and Fifty Thousand Copies Of This Issue Have Been Printed

25c

THE CONSTITUTION

CLARK HOWELL
Editor and General Manager.
Clark Howell, Jr., Business Manager.

Entered at the Postoffice at Atlanta as second-class mail matter.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 9, 1924.

Subscription Rates:
By Carrier or Mail.
Daily and 10c. 3 Mo. $3.00 6 Mo. $5.50
Sunday 2c. 3 Mo. $1.50 6 Mo. $2.50
Daily 10c. 10c. 3 Mo. $3.00 6 Mo. $5.50
Sunday 2c. 10c. 3 Mo. $1.50 6 Mo. $2.50
Single Copies—Daily, 5c. Sunday, 10c.

J. B. HOLLIDAY, Constitution Building, advertising manager for all territory outside of Atlanta.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had by mail from The Constitution Building, 400 Broadway, New York City, at the following rates: Single copy, 10c. 3 Mo. $3.00 6 Mo. $5.50 1 Year $10.00. All orders must be accompanied by payment in full.

The Constitution is not responsible for advertisements placed in its columns. It is not responsible for the opinions or statements of its contributors. It is not responsible for the actions of its readers.

Member of The Associated Press. The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or to any of its member newspapers. It is not responsible for the actions of its readers.

THE PEACE OF GOD, WHICH PASSETH ALL UNDERSTANDING, SHALL KEEP YOUR HEARTS AND MINDS THROUGH CHRIST JESUS.—Phil. 4:7.

WISELY DONE.

The negotiations for the purchase of arms from private parties in this country, carried on by agents of the Mexican revolutionary groups, have forced President Coolidge to clamp down an embargo, as existed during the Madero and Villa revolutions.

This embargo was only lifted two years ago, and while the state department has been inclined to use moral suasion for the time being—discouraging the sales merely as inimical to the peace and serenity of Mexico and to the best interests of this country—a firmer hand was necessary and the president has forced the issue.

This seems to be the Coolidge way, as he has not hesitated so far in backing the frankness and firmness of his conviction, whether in domestic or international issues.

As a matter of fact, what else can be done?

Secretary Hughes must have foreseen this eventually when the government made its sales of arms to the Mexican federals, and justified it as an aid toward maintaining the stability and orderly constitutional proceedings in the neighboring republic.

Shrewd constitutional and international lawyer that he is, he undoubtedly foresaw the action that Huerta is now taking, which in reality more of a test case—to start litigation—than anything else.

Having no doubt foreseen, then Secretary Hughes must have been prepared.

In all reason, if the United States sold arms to President Obregon—and it did, and very correctly so—then to facilitate, or to look on with merely a meaningless protest, the shipment of arms to the rebels, to destroy the very "stability of government" that this nation has abetted, would be a contradictory and wholly indefensible policy.

To permit arms to go to the Huerta revolutionists is to assist in tearing down that which the United States is helping the better thought of Mexico to build—a stable, constructive government.

"Moral suasion" is all right in its place, but this is one time when an embargo is needed, or else a withdrawal of the arms that were sold to the Obregon regime. There is no sense in being a friend unless a friend indeed.

It is well that President Coolidge has taken this view of the situation.

DISHEARTENING FIGURES.

From recently tabulated statistics it is shown that there has been a 67 per cent increase in automobile accidents in Atlanta for 1923 as over 1922. This is disheartening news. Does it mean that automobile drivers are more reckless than they were a year ago, that life and limb is not as safe as it was a year ago, and that the law is not being observed or enforced as it was a year ago?

The population of Atlanta has not increased 67 per cent in the past year. The number of cars operated on the streets of Atlanta has not increased 67 per cent. Accidents alone have shown this tremendous increase. What are the citizens of Atlanta going to do about it?

Law enforcement and the prevention of accidents are not keeping pace with the increase in number of cars and of idiotic drivers. Men and women take chances because they know they will not be punished. Heavier fines, coupled with long-term prison sentences, may be necessary to check the reckless driver—and the reckless pedestrian.

The fool will be a fool until drastic measures are taken to reform him.

As the population of a city increases, more care must be taken in providing for the safety and welfare of all concerned. As automobiles increase, means for preventing accidents should be forthcoming. The law and the officers of the law must be ahead of the lawbreaker. The above statistics would make us believe that in Atlanta the lawbreaker is considerably ahead of the officers of the law. It is time for the law and its officers to wake up—and catch up—time for the lawbreaker to be locked up. An increase of 67 per cent in automobile accidents in a single year can not be tolerated.

DEATH OF MR. WINBURN.

News of the death of W. A. Winburn, president of the Central of Georgia Railway company, will be received with sorrow not only by those who knew him but by the far wider circle of railroad and business men upon whom his striking individuality had been deeply impressed through his splendid management of the great railroad system over which he presided for several years.

Mr. Winburn was born and reared in Georgia—a mountain boy who started at the bottom and who by sheer ability rose to the top of the great system of which he was the head at the time of his death.

His work in other departments leading to the presidency of the system, which covers most of Georgia and reaches into Alabama and Tennessee, threw him for many years in intimate contact with every part of the state, and probably no man in Georgia had a more extensive personal acquaintance.

He knew how to deal with the public and how to hold its confidence and esteem. The Central prospered wonderfully under his management and the record he made in its administration is a splendid tribute not only to his executive ability but to his sterling qualities as a man, for his straightforward manner of doing business and his ability to "meet people" and solve problems through friendly intercourse rather than by aggressive methods was an asset of incalculable value to his company.

Mr. Winburn will be missed not only by his former associates of the Central, but by the whole state.

THE BEST WAY.

Representative Jost, of Missouri, has offered a resolution asking that bonus legislation be postponed until congress shall have adopted a definite policy for the ex-service men.

That is sound; and even the proponents of a bonus should keep that course in the interest of fairness, conservatism and justice to all the ex-soldiers, including the disabled, disabled and dependents.

A fixed, stable, constructive policy toward the old service men as a whole should be established first of all, and in this will be included the proper and justly distributed compensations for those who must be of first national consideration—that is those benefit of their old earning capacity through the losses of limbs, or the diseases of mind or body, or the dependents of those who made the supreme sacrifice.

It will be recalled that the late President Harding estimated that the sum of $25,000,000,000 would be eventually required for this nation to discharge its obligations to these classes among the ex-soldiers.

And there has never been a voice raised in protest, and never will be. The nation will gladly bear that amount, as high as it is, or as much more, if need be.

In the meantime it decries any attempt on the part of any individual or party to exploit the disabled veterans for political or party purposes. It wants to deal with it as a human and not a party issue.

A definite soldier program enacted into law should precede bonus legislation, and a coordinated fight for tax reduction should be made by both parties without thought of political exigencies.

The people expect this, and to obstruct tax reduction legislation for political purposes will be to simply invite political disaster for the obstructors.

KILLING THE WEEVIL.

The cold wave which has swept over Georgia and the south has given the boll weevil a heavy blow. But the weevil is a hardier pest than many have given him credit for being, and he is far from being effectively curbed.

The freeze has no doubt killed many of the pests, but with its multiplying power it will loom strongly next June or July to give us lots of trouble. Then again the weevil is a migratory insect and it must be remembered that there were sections of the cotton belt where the cold was not so severe as it was here.

Those who would plant a larger crop next season in the hope that the weevil will not be as destructive as in 1923, must not be misled.

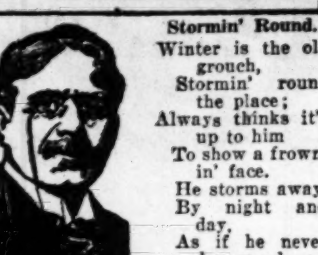

Recently printed figures showed large profits for Georgia farmers on other products than cotton. This should be remembered in outlining plans for the coming season.

All cotton would be a calamity. Just enough cotton to care for, regardless of the boll weevil, is the solution, and that with the "living at home" method will eventually win.

Georgia rich in spite of the weevil.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON

Stormin' Round.
Winter is the old grouch.
Stormin' round the place;
Always thinks it's up to him
To show a frown in his face.
He storms away by night and day.
As if he never dreamed of May!

Cheer up, Mister Winter—
Your temper winds me all!
It's something of a bright world
And a good one, after all!
Why growl today?
When sweeter 'tis to dream of May?

Telling About It.
The Lamar Democrat has a word, in passing, as to the newspaper business.

"Every business has its seedy end. The newspaper business has several. Not the least of which is the fact that real news, more times than not, is anything but pleasant to handle. Real news consists very largely of relating facts, as nearly as they can be obtained, about people who are in trouble, or who are very much on edge. This kind of stuff is a good deal like gunpowder. In other words, the fact of the business is, real news is often more or less hellish."

The Sun's Word For It.
The Sun says: "Hey! It's a stormy day. But I'll shine the rain And the storm away! There's a place where the children Love to play. And I'm the friend of the children!"

Commenting on a news item that "an Englishman of 74, father of eleven children, has married a girl of 17," George Bailey says: "That shows that there are just as big old fools and young fools in England as there are in the United States."

Listen to This!
(Davis, in The Arkansas Gazette)
The only use Oscar has for a head Is to keep his ears Separated.

Br'er Williams' Sentiments.
Some folks what makes New Year resolutions loses lots 'o sleep tryin' to find excuses to break 'em.

He Deserves It.
(From The Marvel Herald)
There's at least one fellow in this country who has my sympathy. He's poor as a church mouse and slingers under the name of Damirich.

Another Hopeful Note.
Po' Man's Lan' Ain't what we stan' for. Many a man who's got a musle By the Dixie ban' Take 'yo' lovers By the dancin' lan'— We'll dance till we shake the shingles!

"The American Dollar," says The Pittsburg Gazette-Times, "is the only successful universal language."

While Europe Buys Cotton American Mills Take Loss

(From Manufacturers' Record.)

Proof that European spinners were quicker to sense the world's cotton famine than American spinners is again shown in the continued heavy exports of cotton which for the week ended December 21 amounted to 257,572 bales, or more than double the exports for the previous week and nearly double the amount shipped the corresponding week of 1922.

From August 1 to December 21 cotton exports amounted to 3,070,944 bales or a gain of 304,000 bales compared with the same time last year. In contrast with these heavy exports to Europe is the decrease in the takings by southern spinners from August 1 to December 21 of 304,000 bales and the decrease in the takings of northern spinners during the same period of 183,000 bales.

Thus while European spinners have already taken 304,000 bales more than for the same time last year American spinners have taken 497,000 bales less. Indeed the total takings of northern and southern spinners is only slightly in excess of the amount exported.

The export figures show how eagerly European spinners got into the market ahead of American spinners. Much of this cotton was bought by Europeans at 10 to 12 cents a pound less than the present price and they probably still have a large amount of cotton bought months ago for shipment later on in the season.

We are moving forward steadily to an inevitable cotton famine. Many mills will be forced to close for lack of raw material and others will be able to run only on short time. It is nearly eight months before the first movement of next year's crop will begin and the world's available supply for that period is so small that the world's actual needs that not only will many mills have to close before the new crop comes to market but we will enter next year's crop period on an absolutely famine basis of American cotton for the world.

JAMES BARRETT DIES WHILE IN THEATER

Augusta, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—James M. Barrett, former champion trapezist of Georgia and a well-known Augustan, died here suddenly while in attendance at a local theater late this afternoon.

Mr. Barrett was in apparent good health when he entered the theater. Heart failure was the cause of his death.

Those who would plant a larger crop next season in the hope that the weevil will not be as destructive as in 1923, must not be misled.

Recently printed figures showed large profits for Georgia farmers on other products than cotton. This should be remembered in outlining plans for the coming season.

All cotton would be a calamity. Just enough cotton to care for, regardless of the boll weevil, is the solution, and that with the "living at home" method will eventually win.

Georgia rich in spite of the weevil.

Naval Stores Men Interview Secretary Of Agriculture

Washington, D. C., January 8.—(Special.)—A committee of naval stores operators, headed by J. L. Rountree, of Summit, Ga.; H. H. Gordon, of McGregor, and S. A. Anderson, of Millen, spent Tuesday here in the interest of the organization of a turpentine cooperative association.

Through J. L. Phillips, chairman of the state central executive committee, they had a conference with Secretary Wallace, of the agriculture department, and made most satisfactory arrangements for pushing their work.

TOOMBS COUNTY GETS DEMONSTRATION AGENT

Lyons, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Miss Willie Vann arrived here last night to take up her duties as home demonstration agent for Toombs county. She is a native of Lyons and resigned to accept another place. Toombs county has been active in the support of the work for the past two years, and Miss Vann plans to have her work well under way during the week.

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

Cancer Will Be Conquered.

Slowly, but surely, science is progressing to rid humanity of its many ills. The day will come when disease will be unknown. But it is a hard uphill fight and the road is marked with martyrs. News comes from New York that Dr. C. T. Ulry has discovered a new X-ray tube which will be a boon to sufferers from cancer.

The new tube is said to be highly effective and cut down expense. Scientists are now investigating the possibility and are perfecting devices with which it will be possible to reach internal cancer, for which no treatment existed hitherto. Dr. Westinghouse and the other investigators are connected with the Westinghouse Electric company.

Tempora, O Mores.

Elopement is all right if the money is returned, according to an Armenian conception. It is an ancient custom for parents to choose the husband for a marriageable daughter.

An Armenian girl in Detroit accepted the choice of her parents, but she eloped with another man, the husband for a marriageable daughter.

She also took some of father's savings along with her. In registering his complaint with the police against the fugitive pair, the father, who had no objection to his daughter marrying the man of her choice, but she must return the money.

Japan Ruled By Aristocrats.

Japan has a new cabinet and it is composed of aristocrats and noblemen. There are no representatives of the middle classes or of the labor world in the new executive cabinet. The aristocrats are behind the civilized nations of the world. During the war the United States government saw rightly that it could not succeed in its policy of non-participation and a labor man was placed on every important committee. The only guarantee the aristocrats have is that it will not enter into negotiations with soviet Russia, to the immense satisfaction of the Italian and British press, who are anxious to see the countries to get the lion's share of the concessions that may fall from the tables of the reds.

Royalty Is Learning Its Lesson.

The Queen of Spain was the principal singer on a program of entertainment at the Grand Theatre, Madrid, last night. The queen, who is a very popular figure in Spain, was the only woman to sing in the grand opera house.

She was accompanied by a large orchestra and a chorus of singers. The performance was a great success and the queen was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

The queen's performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience. The performance was a great success and she was warmly applauded by the audience.

OFFICIALS SILENT ON POLICE REFORMS

Whatever the 1924 police committee of council does in carrying out the administration program of reforming the department, it is going to be done with very little, if any, warning beforehand, it became apparent Tuesday in discussion of the situation around city hall.

Edward H. Inman, new chairman of the committee, is reported at Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, and it was said to be probable that the trial of Chief James L. Beavers, set for February 6 by the 1923 committee, will be postponed until Mr. Inman returns, unless he recovers in time to attend the meeting on that date.

Councilman J. A. Beall, vice chairman of the committee, and who was a member of last year's committee, said that no special meeting or caucus of the committee would be held prior to the regular January meeting next Wednesday.

It was said to be probable that a course of action informally in executive session before the Wednesday meeting but would transact only routine business until Chairman Inman's return.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

Britain Resents Seizure by U. S. Of Rum Vessels

London, January 8.—Simultaneous with the news that Britain has made representations to the United States regarding the detention of the alleged rum runner Kwasind, it is learned there is a possibility that either parliament or some of the British dominions may not ratify the proposed treaty for extension of the three mile limit.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

There is increasing resentment in government circles here over recent seizures of British ships outside the three mile limit, and there is also a growing feeling that America will profit too much by the treaty.

The British embassy at Washington has made representations to the American state department at Washington regarding the seizure of the Tonoako and the Kwasind, but thus far no formal protest has developed.

It is now possible, however, that a strong official protest will be forthcoming when facts regarding the seizures are fully known. Officials are both puzzled and annoyed by the American attitude. It is pointed out here that Britain has scant sympathy for rum runners operating under the British flag, but that the seizure of such ships opens an embarrassing question of international law.

Business Forces Russia To Ask For Recognition

Moscow, January 8.—Purely for business reasons, and not for the glamour of social contact, the Russian government desires the recognition of foreign governments.

Foreign Minister Tchitcherine emphasized this phase of Russia's foreign policy Tuesday in a speech before a conference of foreign representatives of the commissariat of foreign trade.

"We need to establish amicable relations with all lands," he said, "above all, in order to develop the productive forces of our country. That is why, in our foreign policy, we seek general disarmament and a procedure of universal disarmament."

"It is for our economic interests that we desire recognition de jure from western Europe; we do not look for rank nor for the etiquette of high-sounding titles. We seek the practical end of recognition which will facilitate our commerce."

Tchitcherine added that recognition of the soviets was "not a favor to be bestowed upon us," but a reciprocal need for which Russia would make no concession to other powers.

The foreign minister again denied that foreign trade representatives of the soviet government engaged in propaganda, or that the soviet government was allied with the communist international.

Tennesseeans Plan
To Place State
In McAdoo Ranks

Nashville, Tenn., January 8.—Tennessee, which a century ago in a similar convention proposed Andrew Jackson for president of the United States, will this year instruct delegates for William G. McAdoo, another Tennesseean, for the same high office.

Representatives from every congressional district in the state took part in the formation of a Tennessee McAdoo committee which it was announced would work with the sole aim of instructing the state's delegation to the 1924 democratic national convention for the former Tennesseean.

In a telegram to the former secretary of the treasury, sent at the direction of the conference, George F. Milton, of Chattanooga, its chairman, said that "it is peculiarly fitting that this Jackson day in old Hickory state should mark the inception of the McAdoo movement in this state."

The massed spokes of the "big wheel" of the McAdoo movement in this state, the Tennessee delegation instructed to cast the ballot of the democratic state for one whose wise, courageous leadership is so sorely needed by this nation.

Gratifying attendance is reported for the McAdoo school and the McAdoo training courses in progress this week at Central Baptist church, Dr. W. L. Hambrick, pastor, announced Tuesday night. Sessions are being held from 7 to 9 o'clock each night. A. G. Sullivan is in charge of the Sunday school division and Miss Helen Schibbe the Y. P. work.

Monday night's speaker was Dr. J. M. Haymore, pastor of the Decatur Baptist church; Tuesday night, Lonnie Smith, teacher of the Acorn class; Wednesday night, Harry Eldridge will speak; Thursday night, Dr. Joseph Broughton, and Friday night, Dr. W. H. Faust.

ORGAN 2,000 YEARS OLD
IN RUINS OF CARTHAGE

New Orleans, January 8.—Count Byron Khun de Porok, archaeologist, author and artist, who was in charge of the work of unearthing the remains of the ancient metropolis of Carthage, under the auspices of the French government, in a lecture here stated that among the relics of classic civilization in Africa brought to light during the three years of excavation of the ruins was a terra cotta organ with pipes and pedals more than 2,000 years old, spectacles with thick lens and perfume vaporizers used to blow perfumes upon women, and the boudoir of a lady of rank containing rug, face powder, mirrors and other toilet articles dating from 700 B. C.

The count declared he believed that when further excavating is carried on the antiquities revealed would be more startling than those recently found in the tomb of Tutankhamen.

NO TRACE OF MISSING
MISSIONARY IS FOUND

Peking, January 8.—(By The Associated Press.)—The American legation here has been unable to gain any trace of Mrs. Julian Kien, Northfield, Minn., the American missionary kidnapped by Chinese bandits when they raided Tsao Yang, Hupeh province, a few days ago.

Two legation officials, Major John Magruder, military attaché, and Captain Woodrow Woodbridge, language officer, have proceeded to the vicinity of the kidnapping to impress upon the local Chinese officials the necessity of greater activity in pursuing the bandits.

There have been no definite reports as to the condition of Professor and Mrs. Bernard Hoff, also American missionaries, who were wounded when Mrs. Kien was kidnapped.

JORDAN SAYS BOK PLAN
CAN BE MADE TO WORK

San Jose, Cal., January 8.—The Bok Prize Peace plan can be executed successfully, in the opinion of Dr. David Star Jordan, chancellor-emeritus of Stanford university and world peace advocate.

"For one thing," he asserted, "it is a plan calling for discussion—not coercion. Mutual counsel among nations is the only real hope for bringing about the disavowal of war by the open avowal of its cause and discussion of them. I heartily agree with the author of the plan that the United States should assume no obligations under Article 10 in its present form. In my opinion, that is what caused the downfall of the league."

BISHOP W. B. MURRAH
IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Memphis, Tenn., January 8.—Bishop William B. Murrah of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was reported critically ill at his home here tonight. The bishop suffered a stroke of apoplexy today, physicians said.

Raisuli's Wife Dead.

COMMITTEE TO CHANGE REPORT ON VET BUREAU

Washington, January 8.—Chairman Reed of the senate veterans' committee told the senate today that John F. O'Ryan, the committee's general counsel in its veterans' bureau investigation, had "extensively changed" some of the findings he made in his first report, published yesterday.

The chairman did not go into details, but said in a brief statement from the senate floor that the committee had disagreed with some of General O'Ryan's recommendations and that a full report by the committee itself would be made within ten days.

"General O'Ryan has not taken up his report with the committee," Senator Reed said, "and what has appeared is not a final report of the committee or its counsel. A great many recommendations have been made by General O'Ryan, in which we are in entire agreement, while with others we do not agree."

League Praised
By Nonagenarian
As World Hope

Paris, January 8.—(By The Associated Press.)—Speeches by the members of the senate and the chamber of deputies opened today a session of the French parliament which will be its last before the elections in May to choose its successor.

In the upper chamber, Senator Gustave Denis, a nonagenarian, paid tribute to the league of nations. "It is thanks to the league of nations," he said, "that universal peace will one day reign, and it may even succeed in drawing that unfortunate and interesting country, Russia, from the abyss."

Raoul Peret was re-elected president of the chamber of deputies. He gained 525 of the 555 votes cast.

Gwinnett Kills 5,000
Hogs During Cold;
Weevil Not Killed

Lawrenceville, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Monday was hog killing day throughout Gwinnett county, and according to information 5,000 hogs were slain. The cold wave and the hog raisers say has been the only suitable time for killing this season.

G. P. Craig, of Lawrenceville, killed six and the largest one tipped the beam at 707 pounds and the next in weight was 575, the others averaged 250 pounds each.

The unexpected cold wave did thousands of dollars damage to water pipes and automobiles in this section. Plans are under the impression that the extreme cold weather will not destroy the boll weevil as they are housed in the barns and corncribs, and other places where the cold weather did not reach them, as it would have done in the open.

ORDER OF TWENTY-ONE IN FAVOR OF CHANGES

Resolutions favoring the acceptance of the Georgia Railway and Power company's plan to put the street railway system on a "paying basis" have been adopted by the supreme council of the Order of Twenty-One, a political organization having state headquarters in this city, it was announced Tuesday.

The people want to see more economy in public expenditures. Cicero spoke a volume when he said, "Economy is of itself a Great Revenue." The thrifty always have money for real needs.

Economy in City affairs will also provide for many emergencies.

There is truth and wisdom in the saying. This is particularly true of coffee. EMPIRE COFFEE, in addition to being the best obtainable, has the greatest merit of freshness. Roasted, Ground and shipped daily, you get it with the delightful aroma which means so much to Coffee drinkers.

Blended for People
Who demand the Best
McCORD-STEWART &
ATLANTA - ROME

"There is nothing finer"

There is truth and wisdom in the saying. This is particularly true of coffee. EMPIRE COFFEE, in addition to being the best obtainable, has the greatest merit of freshness. Roasted, Ground and shipped daily, you get it with the delightful aroma which means so much to Coffee drinkers.

Blended for People
Who demand the Best
McCORD-STEWART &
ATLANTA - ROME

"There is nothing finer"

There is truth and wisdom in the saying. This is particularly true of coffee. EMPIRE COFFEE, in addition to being the best obtainable, has the greatest merit of freshness. Roasted, Ground and shipped daily, you get it with the delightful aroma which means so much to Coffee drinkers.

Blended for People
Who demand the Best
McCORD-STEWART &
ATLANTA - ROME

"There is nothing finer"

Blended for People
Who demand the Best
McCORD-STEWART &
ATLANTA - ROME

"There is nothing finer"

Andrew Jackson Painted as Model For Public Men

St. Louis, Mo., January 8.—The example Andrew Jackson set in politics with his straightforward, hard hitting methods, could well be followed today by public men with benefit to the country, Governor Austin Peay, of Tennessee, declared tonight talking to the Tennessee club of St. Louis.

"Let it be recorded that Jackson was a man who did things, and in this generation of time servers and trimmers that individual is becoming too rare," Governor Peay declared. "He breathed into our institutions a new and enduring vitality. He smoothed his enemies with an unsparring hand. No high station could save them. He put his policies into everlasting effect."

"How this country does need another birth of straightforward politics of the Jacksonian kind," the speaker said. "A modern politician is a cook-book of political recipes. Each plank is a gesture of appeal to some group or class. The result is a waning confidence in all parties and a growing unrest and disturbance among the people. It will be a great day when some leader shall appear who will, with an arm of iron and a heart of oak, restore true order and courage to our political system."

"Jackson respected his citizenship and recognized his obligation to his country. He responded whenever it called him. He is a dullard who does not lament the ignorance and indifference of our citizenship to the matters of government which exist today. The average citizen concerns himself too seldom with public affairs until some flagrant wrong is exposed."

Forty Per Cent
Added to Shop
Cost of Autos

New York, January 8.—"Forty per cent" has to be added to the shop cost of the motor car to put it into the hands of the consumer," Charles M. Schwab declared tonight before the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, discussing the economic value of the automobile.

While pointing out that the automobile gives an exceptional value for its cost, Mr. Schwab asserted that distribution and overhead costs should be cut down by consolidation whenever legally possible.

"Display warehouses should be consolidated, the cost of selling should be made more nearly in accord with the selling costs in other lines," he said. "Indeed, a bold, courageous and businesslike attack upon this problem will do more to reduce the price of automobiles and thus increase their use than any other steps that could be taken."

"I feel that the automobile industry today has greater prospects before it than the steel industry had 20 years ago," he concluded.

PLAN TOBACCO CROP
FOR CHARLTON COUNTY

Folkston, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—J. B. Hatchell, demonstrator, who was in charge of the experimental work last year in tobacco planting, has secured contracts for about 800 acres in Charlton, Camden and Nassau counties, Florida. He has three assistants helping with the work.

A scheme is now on foot to make Folkston the center of the industry for these three counties and get a warehouse located here. There is no doubt about this section being well adapted to produce the best tobacco, as the experience last year was to get better prices than surrounding districts.

Will you pay
the price of eye-neglect?

Will you, in your older age, pay for neglecting your eyes? When your vision grows dim and you can no longer enjoy the pleasures of the printed page, will you look back and wish that you had given your eyes attention? If you have the slightest bit of eye trouble, go to a specialist (an Oculist) and let him prescribe glasses that will preserve your vision.

The purpose of this message is to urge you to protect your vision—and to impress upon you the value of our training, experience and equipment in making glasses that are accurate in every detail and so selected and fitted as to be especially becoming to their wearers. Quick, courteous service.

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE DELEGATES DEPART

Dr. Charles O. Jones, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, left Atlanta Tuesday to attend the national convention of the Anti-Saloon League, which meets in Washington, D. C. this week.

Dr. Jones is a member of the board of directors and is attending the preliminary meetings to be held there January 9 to 11.

Dr. Jones declared that it would be of interest to Georgians to learn that Congressman W. D. Upshaw and Dr. Sam Small will deliver addresses during the convention, and that Bishop Ainsworth of Macon, vice president of the organization, will preside. Bishop Canon, Jr., of Virginia, another bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church south, is a vice president of the Anti-Saloon League.

In speaking of the convention program Dr. Jones cited the fact that a number of notable southern and national figures are among those listed as speakers. Among them, Bishop Thomas Nicholson, Ror A. Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner, Miss Anna A. Gordon, president of the world and national W. C. T. U.; Senator Morris Sheppard, of Texas; Gifford Pinchot, governor of Pennsylvania; and Robert Spear, secretary for missions in Presbyterian church, and Mayor Quinn, of Louisville, Ky., who will discuss "Enforcing Law in a Big City."

The nature of the present national convention of the league, Dr. Jones said, will stress the fourth anniversary of the passage of the eighteenth amendment. "A March of Allegiance" from the capitol to the white house is contemplated among other demonstrations during the convention.

SCHOOLBOY SHOT DEAD BY STUDENT;
ACCIDENT BLAMED

Columbus, Ga., January 8.—William Culhane, 15, student of St. Joseph's Catholic school near Douglasville, Ala., was shot and accidentally killed yesterday when Boniface Doyle, 12, fired a .22 calibre rifle at Culhane.

The shooting occurred in a store room on the school grounds at Holy Trinity, Ala.

Doyle still appears to be dazed from the accident.

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

DRINK OR DRUG

Good-looking Glasses

Perfectly Fitted

Edited by Clark W. Booth

Only Complete Closing Reports

Healthy Gains Are Seen In Present Crop Positions

RANGE IN NEW YORK COTTON.

	Open	High	Low	Close
Jan	34.00	35.00	34.00	34.00
Feb	33.00	34.00	33.00	33.00
Mar	32.00	33.00	32.00	32.00
Apr	31.00	32.00	31.00	31.00
May	30.00	31.00	30.00	30.00
June	29.00	30.00	29.00	29.00
July	28.00	29.00	28.00	28.00
Aug	27.00	28.00	27.00	27.00
Sept	26.00	27.00	26.00	26.00
Oct	25.00	26.00	25.00	25.00
Nov	24.00	25.00	24.00	24.00
Dec	23.00	24.00	23.00	23.00

New York, January 8.—The feature in the cotton market today was the relative strength of January contracts which sold up to 35.07 or 67 points net higher on covering and trade buying accompanied by reports of a firm spot situation in the south. The tightening up of the January position led to covering and fresh buying of the later months which sent the price of May up to 35.53 compared with 35.09 at the close of the previous day. Last prices were several points off from the best under realizing but the final tone of the market was steady at net advances of 27 to 55 points on present crop positions. Later deliveries were not unchanged to 10 points higher.

The market opened firm at an advance of 11 to 26 points on higher Liverpool cables than expected. Rumors that private returns indicated domestic mill consumption of 352,000 bales for December against 351,000 for November and 328,000 for December last year, appeared to attract very little attention and the market showed continued strength after the opening. Reports of a better tone in Manchester and spinners calling in Liverpool were followed by considerable Liverpool buying in the local market, and there appeared to be more activity than for some time. There has been for several days.

This was coupled with reports that tenderable grades of cotton were not easy to buy in the south and rumors of further sales out of the local stock for shipment to Liverpool, January led the advance during the early afternoon, but the strength of the spot position encouraged buying of later deliveries and evidently restricted offerings. March advanced to 35.32 and July to 34.42. New crop prices were relatively quiet but October advanced to 28.80 or twenty points net higher. The late reactions were attributed to the fact that the estimate domestic consumption for December at 450,000 bales but it was considered doubtful whether either of the reports on domestic consumption had much influence on the day's market. Exports today were 27,483, making 3,458,181 so far this season. Port stocks, 1,017,731.

SPOTS IN NEW YORK.

New York, January 8.—Spot cotton steady; middling, 35.70.

ORLEANS EXCHANGES CLOSED ON TUESDAY

New Orleans, January 8.—The cotton, rice and sugar exchanges were closed here today; anniversary Battle of New Orleans.

COTTON STATEMENT.

Port Movement.
New Orleans: Midday receipts 6,121; exports 15,372; total 21,493. Gulf: Midday receipts 5,948; sales 1,301; stock 32,426.
Mobile: Midday receipts 3,422; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.
Savannah: Midday receipts 1,837; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.
Wilmington: Midday receipts 1,837; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.
Texas City: Midday receipts 1,837; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.
Savannah: Midday receipts 1,837; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.
Wilmington: Midday receipts 1,837; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.
Texas City: Midday receipts 1,837; exports 1,630; stock 40,779.

COTTON YEAR BOOK PRAISED BY MANY IN COTTON INDUSTRY

The 1925-26 edition of Griffith's Cotton Year Book, regarded by the cotton trade, statisticians and the newspaper as one of the most valuable compendiums of information relative to the cotton industry has just been issued, and is fully up to the standard set by its author, Charles P. Griffith.

This volume, similar to the edition of the previous season, is again dedicated to the veteran statistician, Colonel Henry G. Hester, secretary of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange.

The editor in his introduction explains the purpose of the book is to establish for the cotton trade an annual publication containing reliable and intelligent information from worthy and official sources without favor or prejudice, and in the opinion of the editor, "it is what the industry needs."

Valuable statistics are contained in this handbook-sized volume of 130 pages, and the book is well illustrated and contains many valuable facts and figures.

For Heavy Hauling

The economical tire for heavy and medium weight hauling is the Firestone Heavy Duty Cushion. It possesses cushion, traction and mileage—each in the proper degree for heavy service. It protects trucks and loads, and gives long mileage that reduces tire expense to a minimum.

REAL SERVICE COUNTS

Capital City Tire & Supply Co.
284 Peachtree

Firestone TRUCK TIRES

J. W. JAY & CO.
COTTON MERCHANTS

MEMBERS
New York Cotton Exchange
Louisiana Cotton Exchange
New York Produce Exchange
New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange
Chicago Board of Trade

ASSOCIATE MEMBERS
NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

NEW YORK COTTON EXCHANGE
LOUISIANA COTTON EXCHANGE
NEW YORK PRODUCE EXCHANGE
NEW YORK COFFEE AND SUGAR EXCHANGE
CHICAGO BOARD OF TRADE

News, Views And Reviews

STOCK LETTER.

New York, January 8.—Under very heavy selling, the market opened with a decline of 10 to 15 points. The market was generally expected to be a day of activity, but the selling was more than offset by the buying of the public and the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Along toward noon a reactionary movement developed, but the market was steady at net advances of 55 to 75 points.

Late Reactions Wipe Out Big Gains in Stock Market

DAY'S SUMMARY.

Total stock sales, 1,243,000 shares.
Twenty industrials averaged 90.80; net gain, .26.
Twenty railroads averaged 85.70; net gain, .15.
High 102.30, 90.51; low, 79.53.

New York, January 8.—Stock prices today were up at the opening of today's market, a number of issues moving up 1 to 4 points, and then fell back on a large volume of profit-taking which embraced virtually all sections of the list. Sporadic rallies were made to rally the general list, but they made little headway except in the low-priced railroads and a few high-grade specialties.

Early buying was reported to have been based on encouraging reports from Washington concerning the tax reduction bill, and the optimistic views on the banking and trade outlook expressed by bank executives at the annual meetings of stockholders now in session in New York City.

Strength of the Erie issue, the outstanding feature of the session, the common and both classes of preferred stock, the highest prices since 1918, and the common stock, the first preferred 3 5/8 and the second preferred 2 1/4, all at 100.

Wall Street reacted to the day's early dividend action on the first preferred, but these lack of confirmation and were not taken seriously in the high-grade specialties.

Southern Railway climbed to 43 3/8, the highest price since 1907 when it held half a point higher, but it canceled the day's gain before the close.

Some of the outstanding strong shots in the specialties list were American Woolen, American Tobacco, Comstock, Corn Products, United States Steel, United Fruit, United Rubber and Tire, United States Rubber, and United States Paper.

Call money opened at 4 3/4, eased to 4 1/2 and thence to 4 1/4. The time money market continued easy with rates for 90-day bills at 4 1/4 per cent. Commercial paper rates being quoted as low as 4 1/2 per cent.

Moderate reactions took place in the foreign exchanges, French francs touching a new record low at 4.84 1/2. Dealers reported considerable business in the foreign exchange market, but the market was not very active.

Uncertainty of developments in the British and French parliaments now in session. Demand sterling ruled about 1-2c lower at $4.20.

BOND MARKET

New York, January 8.—Following are today's high and closing prices of bonds on the New York Stock Exchange (U. S. bonds in millions of dollars).

U. S. Bonds.
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100
10 Year 100's 100 100 100

TO BE INSETTED IN THE MARKET

Marked strength was shown by some of the other low-priced issues, particularly Washburn & Moen, which was influenced by the United States supreme court yesterday upholding the constitutionality of the recapture clause of the transportation act which is expected to lead to relief for some of the weaker railroad lines.

Pan-American issues were freely sold on reports that the rebels had taken possession of some of the company's Mexican oil properties and that the company's operations were suspended. Net losses, however, were limited to fractions. Producers and refiners broke nearly 3 points. Markets also yielded slightly in further reaction of speculative disappointment over the delay in the sale of treasury stock to a local banking syndicate.

Some of the outstanding strong shots in the specialties list were American Woolen, American Tobacco, Comstock, Corn Products, United States Steel, United Fruit, United Rubber and Tire, United States Rubber, and United States Paper.

Call money opened at 4 3/4, eased to 4 1/2 and thence to 4 1/4. The time money market continued easy with rates for 90-day bills at 4 1/4 per cent. Commercial paper rates being quoted as low as 4 1/2 per cent.

Moderate reactions took place in the foreign exchanges, French francs touching a new record low at 4.84 1/2. Dealers reported considerable business in the foreign exchange market, but the market was not very active.

Uncertainty of developments in the British and French parliaments now in session. Demand sterling ruled about 1-2c lower at $4.20.

Chicago, January 8.—Although firmer at first today in sympathy with an advance at Liverpool, the wheat market here turned easier afterward as a result of selling in Chicago against buying at Winnipeg. The close was unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to quarter cent lower, May $1.08 1/2 to $1.08 5/8 and July $1.05 5/8 to $1.05 3/4. In corn, there was a quarter to half-cent gain, with oats unchanged to 1-8 cent higher, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 7 cents advance.

According to some reports, the Liverpool river was scanty or absent during recent severe cold weather. Demand here, however, failed to attract much volume and the market readily gave way when spreading operations between Chicago and Winnipeg became the dominant factor.

The market was contained by a leading authority on crop conditions that domestic winter wheat in general is in excellent condition, and that west of the Mississippi a moderate snowfall has afforded ample protection. He reported some ice in fields in southern portions of Ohio and Indiana, but said that the situation was not serious.

Corn and oats ruled firm throughout the day. Contrary to predictions, rural offerings of corn gave no evidence of increasing supply, and the southwest had been buying liberally at Missouri river markets and that the west was buying in Chicago. Rural offerings of corn gave no evidence of increasing supply, and the southwest had been buying liberally at Missouri river markets and that the west was buying in Chicago.

Federation Will Oppose Woman's Rights Amendment

BY MRS. MCCORD ROBERTS.
Washington, January 8.—(Special.)—That the blanket amendment to the constitution to be asked of congress by the woman's party will be opposed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs was freely forecast at the opening here today of the annual mid-winter board meeting here.

The executive committee, composed of the officers of the federation, Mrs. Gilbert Davis, of Vermont; Miss Florence Dier, of Pennsylvania, and Mrs. John D. Sherman, of Colorado, will recommend to the board that the federation go on record as opposed to drastic action in regard to women's rights at this time, stating that such an amendment as the one backed by the woman's party will jeopardize the protective legislation obtained for women in the past dozen years.

Membership Question.
Interpretation of that clause of the federation's constitution which relates to eligibility for membership is another question to the fore at this board meeting. The present clause will operate to bar a number of Jewish women's clubs if interpreted strictly by federation officials.

Mrs. Samuel Martin Inman, director for Georgia in the General Federation of Women's Clubs, was a leading speaker on the question when it was brought up at the afternoon session on the opening of the board. Inman cited the excellent solution of the non-sectarian and non-partisan clause carried through by Georgia, the state federation classifying its clubs under three heads, and permitting associate members where special interests prevent full membership.

The interpretation recommended by the executive committee and brought before the board by Mrs. John Sherman, of Colorado, is to the effect that clubs created for civic and literary purposes are eligible, while clubs promoting denominational interests are barred.

With general federation headquarters securely established at the Washington home of the federation and ideal weather conditions prevailing, the board members are anticipating a week of exceptional interest. President Coolidge will receive the board at noon on Thursday. Mrs. Coolidge will entertain for the members on Wednesday evening, and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will entertain at a reception in honor of the

OPERATION FATAL FOR W. A. WINBURN

Rochester, Minn., January 8.—W. A. Winburn, 60, president of the Central of Georgia railway and a prominent citizen of the south, died early today in a local hospital.

Mr. Winburn came here December 22 to consult physicians at the Mayo clinic and was operated on for non-malignant tumor. He apparently had been recovering until yesterday when he took a sudden turn for the worse.

WILLIAM A. WINBURN.

A second operation was performed in an effort to save his life. Mrs. Winburn and a son, William, were at the bedside when death came.

Sketch of Life.
Savannah, Ga., January 8.—William Alfred Winburn was born in Gainesville, Ga., March 19, 1863. He entered the railroad service at 17 years of age at Gainesville, as a clerk for the Richmond and Danville railroad.

After several years of service there, Mr. Winburn obtained a knowledge of transportation at Atlanta, Salisbury, N. C., and at Asheville. While in Salisbury, in 1888, Mr. Winburn married Miss Anna Cole Smith. His widow and three children survive him. His children are W. A. Winburn, Jr., Randall Winburn and Mrs. Antonio J. Vining, all of Savannah. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Thomas Bell, of Gainesville, and Mrs. J. R. Brown, of Athens, Ga.

Just before coming to Savannah in 1892, Mr. Winburn was employed in the transportation department of the Central at Columbus. Upon his arrival here he entered the office of the traffic manager as clerk and continued in that capacity for several months. He was promoted to general freight agent and served in that position until October, 1901, when he was promoted again to traffic manager. On July 14, 1902, he became vice president and, April 8, 1914, he was elected president, in which capacity he served until his death, with the exception of a few months during the war when he was in the federal service. Mr. Winburn has been president of the Ocean Steamship company for several years also. This is a steamship line controlled by the Central railway. He was known as one of the most enthusiastic Georgians and whenever called upon was ready and willing to participate in any more making for the prosperity of the state.

Mr. Winburn was active in civic and religious affairs, being a vestryman of Christ church and a member of several Savannah civic organizations. To Mr. Winburn is given credit for the rapid agricultural development and progress of communities and cities along the Central's line of road.

Mr. Winburn was operated on in Savannah early in December and on Christmas eve started for the Mayo Brothers' sanitarium at Rochester, Minn. There he underwent two operations and was thought to be improving until pneumonia developed. This caused his death.

SAVANNAH SORROWS DEATH OF LEADER.
Savannah, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—All Savannah today sorrowed because of the death of William A. Winburn, president of the Central of Georgia railway. Flags were at half mast upon the city hall and the cotton exchange and other public buildings in honor of the dead citizen.

Mayor Seabrook wired early a message of condolence to Mrs. Winburn, who was with her husband at Rochester. Other messages poured over the wires from many persons and organizations. Christ church vestry and a dozen civic and commercial and other organizations today passed resolutions of sincere regret at the passing of "a great constructive leader of the south and a loyal friend of Savannah and Georgia."

Shops Sorrow.
There has been universal sorrow in the great "family" of Central of Georgia employees and Ocean Steamship companies for the passing of the chief executive. He, perhaps more than any other man in the organizations, held the position of a personal friend of thousands connected with these transportation lines over which he presided. Mrs. A. J. Waring and Randall Winburn, daughter and son, left last night for Rochester and will

FLORIDA MAY BUY GEORGIA PRODUCE

Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Floyd county farmers were this morning offered a market for all tomatoes and watermelons of marketable quality they can grow this year, by J. S. Wood, of Tampa, Fla., a commission man who hopes to establish a packing house here. A minimum of $75 per car for watermelons of 25 pounds each and over; and $1.25 per 100 pounds for tomatoes are the prices guaranteed by Mr. Wood. If the local production can be sold at better prices, the farmers are to get the benefit of the increase under the terms of the contract offered them.

Mr. Wood, who is the head of a large Florida produce company is seeking a source of supply for vegetables for Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami, Pensacola, Mobile and Cuban cities. Because Floyd county's soils are adapted to raising melons and tomatoes, he has been considering local conditions and this morning made his proposition to more than 125 Floyd county farmers who met him at the court house. He explained his company's needs, what it can afford to do and what is expected of the farmers.

If the farmers here, will contract to plant a minimum of 200 acres in tomatoes and 100 acres in watermelons, Mr. Wood states that his company will not only agree to pay the prices mentioned, but will send a representative here every two weeks through the planting and growing season to advise farmers as to the best methods to use. The company will also build and operate during the harvest season here a packing plant which will grade, pack and ship, the crops.

Much interest was manifested in the proposal, and a large number of farmers announced their intention of planting one or both crops. Final decision in the matter will depend, however, upon securing contracts totaling the minimum acreage necessary to the produce company's plan.

Rome Teachers Quit.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Misses Sarah and Lillie Nunnally, fifth grade teachers in the local public schools, have resigned their positions, the former to accept a position in South Carolina and the latter in Alabama. Better salaries than the local schools pay have been offered both young women who are nieces of J. H. Nunnally, former judge of the city court of this city. The city board of education will meet Thursday night to fill the vacancies.

Seek Lawbreakers.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff Lindsey Wright has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to bring back to Rome, Cicero Wood, a negro, wanted here for having jumped two bonds of $500 each, following his arrest for violating the prohibition laws, and alleged fakers of all kinds are to be proceeded against at once, it was announced.

Urges Expansion.
Reviewing the work of the dental clinics and public health nurses during the last year, he urged expansion of the work during this year as far as financial conditions of the schools permit. He also urged that building superintendents be placed in charge of the larger school buildings instead of low paid negro janitors as at present, declaring that it would be economical in the long run to have better care taken of the buildings, especially for negroes, were called to the attention of the board. Triple sessions are being operated in most negro schools and double sessions in all but one, the new Storrs-Houston school, it was pointed out.

Dr. Sutton did not make his expected appeal for a $6,000,000 bond issue to complete the $10,000,000 building program recommended in the Englehardt-Steyer survey and which was started with the 1921 issue of $4,000,000 school bonds. He stated that he probably would go into the building needs of the schools at an adjourned session of the board Friday afternoon when the budget for this year will be prepared.

MEN WHO BORROW MONEY IN GERMANY PROFIT BY DEALS
Berlin, January 8.—One mark 10 pfennings was the actual total return received by the reichsbank for the last three months on every 1,000 gold mark private loan which was paid back at maturity in the fading paper marks, according to Dr. Gumbel, economic expert, who has just completed an analysis of the situation.

Dr. Gumbel investigated the discount policies maintained by the reichsbank in its dealing with private individuals, banks and commercial and industrial firms for the last five years. A three months loan of 10,000 marks renewed regularly at the quarterly expiration for that period actually netted the borrower the sum of 6,400 gold marks, he says.

The expert reached this conclusion after computing the paper mark's constantly receding value during the period under discussion. He declared the borrowers were invariably off their quarterly loans with depreciated marks and then renew the operation through which in the long run they benefited handsomely through the reichsbank's failure to protect its discount service against the fall of the paper currency.

Dr. Gumbel asserts that there is still much confusion with respect to the reichsbank's private loan policies since November 16 despite the fact that its weekly returns up to September 7 indicate an enormous increase in its paper mark private credits.

Wife of Millionaire, Former Chorus Girl, Is Believed Insane
New York, January 8.—Dorothy Gates Herrman, former chorus girl, now separated from her millionaire husband, Philip Herrman, was committed to Bellevue hospital today for observation as to her sanity. Francis P. Dale, lawyer, having testified that she had followed her mother-in-law and executed ballet steps and altitudinous kicks while eager crowds blocked the sidewalks.

Mrs. Herrman was arrested three weeks ago when Dale complained that she had kicked the glass out of his office door after quarreling over an alimony settlement.

Mrs. Hill Holland Dead.
Lyerly, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hassie Hill Holland, 40, wife of R. L. Holland, postmaster and merchant at Holland, near here, is dead at the family residence.

She was a niece of Mrs. W. H. Strain, of Lyerly, and was well known in this community. She is survived by her husband and two children.

FLORIDA MAY BUY GEORGIA PRODUCE

Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Floyd county farmers were this morning offered a market for all tomatoes and watermelons of marketable quality they can grow this year, by J. S. Wood, of Tampa, Fla., a commission man who hopes to establish a packing house here. A minimum of $75 per car for watermelons of 25 pounds each and over; and $1.25 per 100 pounds for tomatoes are the prices guaranteed by Mr. Wood. If the local production can be sold at better prices, the farmers are to get the benefit of the increase under the terms of the contract offered them.

Mr. Wood, who is the head of a large Florida produce company is seeking a source of supply for vegetables for Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami, Pensacola, Mobile and Cuban cities. Because Floyd county's soils are adapted to raising melons and tomatoes, he has been considering local conditions and this morning made his proposition to more than 125 Floyd county farmers who met him at the court house. He explained his company's needs, what it can afford to do and what is expected of the farmers.

If the farmers here, will contract to plant a minimum of 200 acres in tomatoes and 100 acres in watermelons, Mr. Wood states that his company will not only agree to pay the prices mentioned, but will send a representative here every two weeks through the planting and growing season to advise farmers as to the best methods to use. The company will also build and operate during the harvest season here a packing plant which will grade, pack and ship, the crops.

Much interest was manifested in the proposal, and a large number of farmers announced their intention of planting one or both crops. Final decision in the matter will depend, however, upon securing contracts totaling the minimum acreage necessary to the produce company's plan.

Rome Teachers Quit.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Misses Sarah and Lillie Nunnally, fifth grade teachers in the local public schools, have resigned their positions, the former to accept a position in South Carolina and the latter in Alabama. Better salaries than the local schools pay have been offered both young women who are nieces of J. H. Nunnally, former judge of the city court of this city. The city board of education will meet Thursday night to fill the vacancies.

Seek Lawbreakers.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff Lindsey Wright has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to bring back to Rome, Cicero Wood, a negro, wanted here for having jumped two bonds of $500 each, following his arrest for violating the prohibition laws, and alleged fakers of all kinds are to be proceeded against at once, it was announced.

Urges Expansion.
Reviewing the work of the dental clinics and public health nurses during the last year, he urged expansion of the work during this year as far as financial conditions of the schools permit. He also urged that building superintendents be placed in charge of the larger school buildings instead of low paid negro janitors as at present, declaring that it would be economical in the long run to have better care taken of the buildings, especially for negroes, were called to the attention of the board. Triple sessions are being operated in most negro schools and double sessions in all but one, the new Storrs-Houston school, it was pointed out.

Dr. Sutton did not make his expected appeal for a $6,000,000 bond issue to complete the $10,000,000 building program recommended in the Englehardt-Steyer survey and which was started with the 1921 issue of $4,000,000 school bonds. He stated that he probably would go into the building needs of the schools at an adjourned session of the board Friday afternoon when the budget for this year will be prepared.

MEN WHO BORROW MONEY IN GERMANY PROFIT BY DEALS
Berlin, January 8.—One mark 10 pfennings was the actual total return received by the reichsbank for the last three months on every 1,000 gold mark private loan which was paid back at maturity in the fading paper marks, according to Dr. Gumbel, economic expert, who has just completed an analysis of the situation.

Dr. Gumbel investigated the discount policies maintained by the reichsbank in its dealing with private individuals, banks and commercial and industrial firms for the last five years. A three months loan of 10,000 marks renewed regularly at the quarterly expiration for that period actually netted the borrower the sum of 6,400 gold marks, he says.

The expert reached this conclusion after computing the paper mark's constantly receding value during the period under discussion. He declared the borrowers were invariably off their quarterly loans with depreciated marks and then renew the operation through which in the long run they benefited handsomely through the reichsbank's failure to protect its discount service against the fall of the paper currency.

Dr. Gumbel asserts that there is still much confusion with respect to the reichsbank's private loan policies since November 16 despite the fact that its weekly returns up to September 7 indicate an enormous increase in its paper mark private credits.

Wife of Millionaire, Former Chorus Girl, Is Believed Insane
New York, January 8.—Dorothy Gates Herrman, former chorus girl, now separated from her millionaire husband, Philip Herrman, was committed to Bellevue hospital today for observation as to her sanity. Francis P. Dale, lawyer, having testified that she had followed her mother-in-law and executed ballet steps and altitudinous kicks while eager crowds blocked the sidewalks.

Mrs. Herrman was arrested three weeks ago when Dale complained that she had kicked the glass out of his office door after quarreling over an alimony settlement.

Mrs. Hill Holland Dead.
Lyerly, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hassie Hill Holland, 40, wife of R. L. Holland, postmaster and merchant at Holland, near here, is dead at the family residence.

She was a niece of Mrs. W. H. Strain, of Lyerly, and was well known in this community. She is survived by her husband and two children.

FLORIDA MAY BUY GEORGIA PRODUCE

Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Floyd county farmers were this morning offered a market for all tomatoes and watermelons of marketable quality they can grow this year, by J. S. Wood, of Tampa, Fla., a commission man who hopes to establish a packing house here. A minimum of $75 per car for watermelons of 25 pounds each and over; and $1.25 per 100 pounds for tomatoes are the prices guaranteed by Mr. Wood. If the local production can be sold at better prices, the farmers are to get the benefit of the increase under the terms of the contract offered them.

Mr. Wood, who is the head of a large Florida produce company is seeking a source of supply for vegetables for Jacksonville, Tampa, Miami, Pensacola, Mobile and Cuban cities. Because Floyd county's soils are adapted to raising melons and tomatoes, he has been considering local conditions and this morning made his proposition to more than 125 Floyd county farmers who met him at the court house. He explained his company's needs, what it can afford to do and what is expected of the farmers.

If the farmers here, will contract to plant a minimum of 200 acres in tomatoes and 100 acres in watermelons, Mr. Wood states that his company will not only agree to pay the prices mentioned, but will send a representative here every two weeks through the planting and growing season to advise farmers as to the best methods to use. The company will also build and operate during the harvest season here a packing plant which will grade, pack and ship, the crops.

Much interest was manifested in the proposal, and a large number of farmers announced their intention of planting one or both crops. Final decision in the matter will depend, however, upon securing contracts totaling the minimum acreage necessary to the produce company's plan.

Rome Teachers Quit.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Misses Sarah and Lillie Nunnally, fifth grade teachers in the local public schools, have resigned their positions, the former to accept a position in South Carolina and the latter in Alabama. Better salaries than the local schools pay have been offered both young women who are nieces of J. H. Nunnally, former judge of the city court of this city. The city board of education will meet Thursday night to fill the vacancies.

Seek Lawbreakers.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff Lindsey Wright has gone to Cleveland, Ohio, to bring back to Rome, Cicero Wood, a negro, wanted here for having jumped two bonds of $500 each, following his arrest for violating the prohibition laws, and alleged fakers of all kinds are to be proceeded against at once, it was announced.

Urges Expansion.
Reviewing the work of the dental clinics and public health nurses during the last year, he urged expansion of the work during this year as far as financial conditions of the schools permit. He also urged that building superintendents be placed in charge of the larger school buildings instead of low paid negro janitors as at present, declaring that it would be economical in the long run to have better care taken of the buildings, especially for negroes, were called to the attention of the board. Triple sessions are being operated in most negro schools and double sessions in all but one, the new Storrs-Houston school, it was pointed out.

Dr. Sutton did not make his expected appeal for a $6,000,000 bond issue to complete the $10,000,000 building program recommended in the Englehardt-Steyer survey and which was started with the 1921 issue of $4,000,000 school bonds. He stated that he probably would go into the building needs of the schools at an adjourned session of the board Friday afternoon when the budget for this year will be prepared.

MEN WHO BORROW MONEY IN GERMANY PROFIT BY DEALS
Berlin, January 8.—One mark 10 pfennings was the actual total return received by the reichsbank for the last three months on every 1,000 gold mark private loan which was paid back at maturity in the fading paper marks, according to Dr. Gumbel, economic expert, who has just completed an analysis of the situation.

Dr. Gumbel investigated the discount policies maintained by the reichsbank in its dealing with private individuals, banks and commercial and industrial firms for the last five years. A three months loan of 10,000 marks renewed regularly at the quarterly expiration for that period actually netted the borrower the sum of 6,400 gold marks, he says.

The expert reached this conclusion after computing the paper mark's constantly receding value during the period under discussion. He declared the borrowers were invariably off their quarterly loans with depreciated marks and then renew the operation through which in the long run they benefited handsomely through the reichsbank's failure to protect its discount service against the fall of the paper currency.

Dr. Gumbel asserts that there is still much confusion with respect to the reichsbank's private loan policies since November 16 despite the fact that its weekly returns up to September 7 indicate an enormous increase in its paper mark private credits.

Wife of Millionaire, Former Chorus Girl, Is Believed Insane
New York, January 8.—Dorothy Gates Herrman, former chorus girl, now separated from her millionaire husband, Philip Herrman, was committed to Bellevue hospital today for observation as to her sanity. Francis P. Dale, lawyer, having testified that she had followed her mother-in-law and executed ballet steps and altitudinous kicks while eager crowds blocked the sidewalks.

Mrs. Herrman was arrested three weeks ago when Dale complained that she had kicked the glass out of his office door after quarreling over an alimony settlement.

Mrs. Hill Holland Dead.
Lyerly, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hassie Hill Holland, 40, wife of R. L. Holland, postmaster and merchant at Holland, near here, is dead at the family residence.

She was a niece of Mrs. W. H. Strain, of Lyerly, and was well known in this community. She is survived by her husband and two children.

TOWNLEY NAMED HEAD OF RETAIL FOOD DEALERS

John C. Townley, of Ormeow Park, was elected president of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' association Monday at the annual election of officers. A. C. Hilderbrand was named first vice president; Sam Zinkow, second vice president; Walter C. Branham, third vice president; Morris Weinberg, treasurer, and R. V. Bergen, secretary.

The new officers will be installed at the meeting of the association next Monday night in the chamber of commerce assembly hall. A board of 30 directors will be elected also at this meeting.

Name Warehouse Directors.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Directors for the Georgia Warehouse company were elected today at the annual meeting of the stockholders, at which time an annual dividend of 7 per cent payable on March 1 was declared.

W. L. Graves, Julian Cummings, J. L. Brannon, T. B. White, of Rome; Roland Sneed, of Forney, Ala.; H. M. Penn, of Plainville, Ga., and Homer Davis and J. E. Camp, of Floyd county, were chosen directors of the company for the coming year. The annual meeting of the directors at which officers would have been elected for the year, was postponed until next week. The dividend declared at this time is the third of 7 per cent paid during the three years since the warehouse company was organized. There is, in addition, a surplus of approximately $4,000, the treasurer's report shows.

Nearly 300 farmers in Chattooga and Floyd counties and in Cherokee county, Alabama, own stock in the warehouse company. Organized three years ago to supply government grades and bonded warehouse facilities for cotton, it has proven a financial success from the beginning.

To Remodel National Bank.
Rome, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Remodeling of the First National Bank building will be begun about February 1, according to announcement made by officials of the institution. A contract for the exterior work has been let to J. F. Dupree & Son, of this city; Mosley Safe & Lock company has been given the contract for the new vault and safe that will be installed. C. E. Frazier, of Atlanta, is the architect. The improvements will cost more than $50,000, it is stated.

WILL END MEDICAL ABUSES IN OKLAHOMA
Oklahoma City, Okla., January 8. A state-wide clean-up of alleged abuses of the medical profession in Oklahoma was launched by the state board of medical examiners meeting here today. "Diploma mill" physicians, doctors who are charged with violating the national narcotic laws and alleged fakers of all kinds are to be proceeded against at once, it was announced.

Chicago Working For Democratic Meeting in 1924

Chicago, January 8.—Still smarting under failure to secure the republican national convention, Chicago is making every effort possible to land the democratic meeting as its big show of campaign year.

A citizens' committee of eighty-five, led by Mayor William E. Dever, Mrs. Dever and George E. Brennan, democratic political leader, will storm Washington January 15 and 16 in an attempt to impress the national committee with the desirability of selecting this city.

"Right now Chicago appears way in the lead," Brennan said Tuesday. "The necessary money has been raised; arrangements have been made; and we have received the promise of many votes by committee members."

Favor of women, as well as men, members of the democratic committee is being courted, for, unlike the situation in the republican party, women members of the democratic committee vote on the selection of the convention city.

Griffin Schools Open.
Griffin, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—The public schools of Griffin and Spalding county are again in full swing after the Christmas holidays. Most of the teachers living out of town spent the holidays at home and have returned ready for "an even better term in the spring than in the fall."

Is 50 Per Cent. Of a Salesman His Personality?

"YES," says a man who has been associated with more than half a million wage-earners on various important jobs.

Likewise in selling by mail, fifty per cent. of the effectiveness of any printed piece depends upon the "personality" of that job—the stock, the inks, the tints, the typography and the craftsmanship.

The very finest of all these things enters into the creation of a printed piece of salesmanship prepared at Byrd's. Artisans here for more than three decades have studied the art of making type talk more sales.

Today, luckily for Atlanta and other parts of the South to which Byrd's printery is accessible, this house turns out as tidy a piece of printing as ever was read.

Phone for our representative.

Byrd Printing Co.
BYRD BUILDING ATLANTA, GA.
Atlanta's Oldest Printing House
Phone Main 1270
"A Bird of a Job!—It's BYRD'S"
ESTABLISHED 1887

WEST INDIES Cruises

$250 up—29 days

A remarkable service has brought the age-old glamor and beauty of the islands of the Caribbean within the scope of a single cruise of 29 days.

A longer holiday may be arranged by joining the first cruise at Nassau or leaving the second cruise at Havana—both Florida for example.

White Star liner Megan, specially constructed for cruising from New York Jan. 23 and Feb. 26.

See Havana, Haiti, Cartagena, San Diego, Kingston, the Panama Canal, La Guaira, Trinidad, Barbados, Martinique, St. Thomas, San Juan, Nassau.

EGYPT and the MEDITERRANEAN

$800 up—a 44-day Cruise with all expenses included

The rigors of winter melt into a sun-warmed glow of color on the Riviera. The humdrum of everyday life transformed into glamorous mystery and romance—in the valley of the Nile.

White Star liner Adriatic, from New York Feb. 23. Red Star liner Lafayette, Jan. 16 and March 5.

See these fascinating places—Madeira, Gibraltar, Algiers, Monaco, Nice, Naples, Rome, Amalfi, Sorrento, Athens, Haifa, Jerusalem, Cairo, Luxor.

Local Bookings in any port

WHITE STAR LINE RED STAR LINE

For further information or beautiful descriptive booklets apply to 29 No. Broad St. Or authorized agents.

HOOD Brick ARE GOOD Brick

CLARK'S 21st MEDITERRANEAN CRUISE

Feb. 2, by specially chartered White Star S. S. "BALTIM" 23,884

Vacancies at attractive rates.

65 days $600 up including hotels, drives, guides, fees, visiting Madeira, Spain, Athens, Constantinople, 18 days in Egypt and Palestine, Naples, Rome, Monte Carlo, etc. Stopover in Europe and return by monster Maiden, "Olympic," "Homeric," etc.

4th CRUISE, JAN. 30 from LOS ANGELES or JAN. 15 from NEW YORK

ROUND THE WORLD

122 days $1000 up including hotels, drives, guides, fees, etc. by specially chartered Cunard new oil-burner

There is still time to arrange passage.

We expect to carry 600 to 700 passengers on each cruise.

FRANK C. CLARK, Times Bldg., New York 2, 2, 2, NORTH 35 North Street Street

Wife of Millionaire, Former Chorus Girl, Is Believed Insane

New York, January 8.—Dorothy Gates Herrman, former chorus girl, now separated from her millionaire husband, Philip Herrman, was committed to Bellevue hospital today for observation as to her sanity. Francis P. Dale, lawyer, having testified that she had followed her mother-in-law and executed ballet steps and altitudinous kicks while eager crowds blocked the sidewalks.

Mrs. Herrman was arrested three weeks ago when Dale complained that she had kicked the glass out of his office door after quarreling over an alimony settlement.

Mrs. Hill Holland Dead.

Lyerly, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. Hassie Hill Holland, 40, wife of R. L. Holland, postmaster and merchant at Holland, near here, is dead at the family residence.

She was a niece of Mrs. W. H. Strain, of Lyerly, and was well known in this community. She is survived by her husband and two children.

STUDEBAKER

1924 MODELS AND PRICES—f. o. b. factory

LIGHT-SIX 5-Door, 117" W. B., 40 H. P.	SPECIAL-SIX 5-Door, 119" W. B., 50 H. P.	BIG-SIX 7-Door, 126" W. B., 60 H. P.
Touring.....$995	Touring.....$1350	Touring.....$1750
5-Door (3-Door).....915	5-Door (3-Door).....1285	5-Door (3-Door).....1685
Coupe-Roadster (2-Door).....1195	Coupe (2-Door).....1895	Coupe (2-Door).....2495
Coupe (5-Door).....1485	Sedan.....1985	Sedan.....2685

Terms to Meet Your Convenience

Yarborough Motor Company
DISTRIBUTORS
212-20 W. Peachtree St.
Hem. 6810-6811-6812-6813
THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

The 1924 Model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car $995

The unprecedented popularity of the Studebaker Light-Six can be traced to the fact that it represents a degree of automobile value that the public has sought for years.

It is built complete in the great Studebaker factories.

By manufacturing complete motors, transmissions, axles, frames, bodies, tops, castings, forgings, and stampings, parts-makers' profits are eliminated from costs, and one profit only is included in Studebaker prices.

Phone or call for demonstration.

News of Society and Woman's Work

Debutante Club Will Sponsor Valentine Charity Ball

Invitations will be issued this week by the members of the Debutante club of 1923-24 to the Valentine Charity ball which will be given at the Druid Hills Golf club Friday evening, February 8. The proceeds accruing from this brilliant social event will be used for the Home for the Friendless, the worthy Atlanta charity sponsored by the club.

Miss Carrie Lou Reynolds and Miss Marjorie Davidson are chairmen of the committee on arrangements, and assisting will be Miss Mary Jimmie Pattillo, Miss Frances Brown, Miss Margaret Block, Miss Margaret White and Miss Jeanette Collins.

The music will be furnished by Warner's Seven Aces, and the tickets will be $2 for a couple or $2 for an individual ticket. Those desiring to attend are requested to apply to any member of the club for these tickets.

Among those who will act as chaperons will be former Governor and Mrs. Slaton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Patton, Mr. and Mrs. Ten-Eck Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Maude, Mr. and Mrs. James White, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph S. Baine, Mrs. Nora Ernest, Northern, Mrs. Edward K. VanWinkle and Mrs. W. C. Jarnagin.

Visitor and Recent Bride Will Share Honors at Party

Mrs. Paul Turner will entertain at a bridge-tee Friday afternoon at the Atlanta Woman's club in honor of Mrs. Robert E. Peterson, of Chattanooga, Tenn., who will arrive Thursday to be her guest, and Mrs. Eugene McLaughlin, a recent bride, who was formerly Miss Catherine Dunn, of New York city.

Mrs. Turner's guests will include Mrs. Peterson, Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. Paul Westcott, Miss Lucile Anderson, Miss Grace Freeman, Mrs. Capers Andrews, Mrs. LaGare Davis.

Mrs. Peterson will be honor guest at a matinee party Saturday afternoon at which Miss Grace Freeman will entertain.

The invited guests are Mrs. Charles A. Steen, Mrs. Paul Turner, Mrs. Peterson and Miss Freeman.

During her visit Mrs. Peterson will be an admired figure at other delightful parties to be given in her honor, the dates to be announced later.

SOCIAL ITEMS

Mrs. Frances C. Block and Miss Margaret Block leave Atlanta Thursday for New York, and will sail January 14 on the S. S. Loconia for Europe.

Mrs. Allen Schoen, Miss Sarah Schoen and Miss Grace Goldsmith will sail from New York in February for Europe, and will spend several months in Paris.

Misses Hattie and Lizzie Murphy have returned from Chattanooga where they spent the week-end at the Hotel Patten with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fawcett, of New York, who are spending several weeks in Chattanooga.

Lieutenant and Mrs. H. T. Green have left Fort Meade to return to New York, from which place they will sail on the Transport for duty in Porto Rico.

The many friends of Mrs. Thomas Page will be sorry to learn of her illness at their quarters at Fort McPherson, Ga.

The younger set of the army

Club Luncheon Fetes Bride-Elect.

Miss Dorothy Dodd entertained at luncheon Tuesday at the Piedmont Driving club in compliment to a charming bride-elect of January, Miss Emily Davis.

A silver basket of pink roses and white narcissi, surrounded by silver candlesticks holding pink unshaded tapers, marked the central decoration. Miniature figures of old fashioned girls designated the guests' places.

Miss Dodd was gowned in black satin fashioned with a deep bertha of cream lace and worn with a hat of American beauty ribbon.

Miss Davis' midday costume was of black chiffon velvet, trimmed with ermine and worn with a hat of silver metal cloth.

The guests were Miss Davis, Miss Nellie Dodd, Miss Catherine Murphy, Miss Emmie Nixon, Miss Eunice Collier, Miss Callie Orme, Mrs. Walter Wellborn, Mrs. Bert Harless, Mrs. Grady Black, Mrs. Orme Campbell, Mrs. Robert Goodhart, Mrs. Richard Sawtell and Mrs. Lewis Hamilton.

Eleventh Ward Voters Will Meet Today.

The Eleventh Ward League of Women Voters will meet this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Whiteford Avenue schoolhouse. Mrs. H. E. Stockbridge and Mrs. J. P. Wall will address the meeting.

The ward chairman, Miss Katherine Koch, urges a full attendance of members, as plans for the year's work will be made at this meeting.

Misses Walker Give Party at "Pine Crest."

Misses Ora and Mae Walker entertained a number of their friends at a party Tuesday evening at "Pine Crest," the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Jones.

The house was beautifully decorated with the colors of the season. The guests included Misses Eunice Bryant, Corine Young, Madie Martin, Margaret Gay, Callie Patton, Stevie Gay, Messrs. Elmo Patton, Clyde Fain, Bevely Young, Paul Bennett, John M. Simonton, Jr., John White, Allen Oliver, Claude James, John Fain, Charles Jackson, James Evans, Jonnie Amster and Lee Ross.

Miss Dorothy Mapp Will Entertain.

One of the interesting affairs of Saturday will be the tea at which Miss Dorothy Mapp will entertain at her home on Holderess street in compliment to Mrs. Jerome Jones, Jr., a recent bride.

W. M. S. To Have Day of Prayer.

The W. M. S. of the Baptist Tabernacle will have a day of prayer Thursday, beginning at 10 o'clock, lunch being served in the dining room of the church. A very interesting program has been arranged by the president, Mrs. J. C. Williamson.

Mrs. Harvey Clark, missionary from Japan; Miss Katherine Bryan, from China; and Miss Susan Anderson, from Africa, also Miss Rhoad, state worker of W. M. U., will speak to the society. All the ladies of the church are urged to be present and visitors will be welcome.

Genuine Orange Blossom Wedding Rings and Diamond Mountings

E. A. MORGAN'S Jeweler

10 & 12 E. Hunter St.

STEWART'S Foot Comfort Dept.

Don't Procrastinate

If your feet are troubling you—if your ankles are swollen at the end of a day's work—if the heels on your shoes run over in a few days' wear—call and see our foot specialist, who is trained in the WIZARD System of Foot Correction.

Your stockinged foot examined without charge.

Private Dept.—R. A. Parker in Charge

STEWART'S

Mr and Mrs. Hatcher Honor Visitors At Bridge-Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hatcher, Jr., entertained at a bridge-supper Tuesday evening at their home on Peachtree street in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ferguson, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Rogers.

The house was decorated with vases of bright flowers. In the center of the table was a large basket holding pink roses and hyacinths.

Mrs. Ferguson was gowned in a be-gowning model of green chiffon beaded in crystals.

Mrs. Rogers was lovely in a handsome gown of black velvet with red brocade.

Mrs. Hatcher's gown was of black velvet trimmed with white fur.

Miss Pattillo Is Complimented.

Miss Mary Jimmie Pattillo, one of the season's charming debutantes, was the honor guest at a luncheon at which her sister, Mrs. John Roy Pattillo, entertained Tuesday at the Druid Hills Golf club.

The guests were received in the palm room, where the luncheon table was placed. In the center of the table was a silver basket of pink roses and narcissi. Placed around this were four silver candlesticks holding unshaded pink tapers.

Miss Pattillo was gowned in navy blue moire.

Mrs. Pattillo wore brown georgette crepe, elaborately beaded.

Covers were placed for Miss Pattillo, Miss Margaret Block, Miss Virginia Maude, Miss Carrie Lou Reynolds, Miss Frances Brown, Miss Jeanette Collins, Mrs. Margaret White, Miss Marjorie Davidson and a few other intimate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Waddell Coleman, of Atwood street, West End, announce the birth of a son.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Gloer announce the birth of a daughter, January 2, who has been named Edith Olga. Mrs. Gloer was formerly Miss Olga Rauen, of Savannah, Ga.

Mrs. W. W. Tracy will leave soon to spend the remainder of the winter in St. Petersburg and Miami, Fla.

Dr. and Mrs. William C. Warren and Mr. and Mrs. E. Rivers will leave today for Valdosta, where they will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. William West.

Miss Helen Rose, of Reynolds, Ga., is visiting Miss Elizabeth Tillman at her home on Lee street, West End.

Mrs. E. T. Shurley, of Warrenton, Ga., is convalescing from an operation at Wesley Memorial hospital.

Mrs. Howard Gives Delightful Tea.

Mrs. Murray Howard was hostess at a large and elaborate tea Tuesday afternoon at the Atlanta Woman's club, the guests being the members of the executive board of the West End Woman's club, of which Mrs. Howard is president.

The banquet hall, where the guests were received, was decorated with foliage plants and many varieties of flowers in shades of yellow and white. A lace cloth overlaid the long tea table and in the center was a silver basket filled with yellow roses. Yellow candles were placed in yellow compartments.

The hostess was assisted in the entertainment of her guests by Miss Janie Howard, Miss Josephine Turner, Miss Ernestine Hornady and Miss Annie Margaret Presson.

A delightful feature of the afternoon was the group of readings given by Mrs. Earl Sherwood Jackson.

Mrs. Howard received her guests wearing orchid georgette crepe.

Party at Club For Visitor.

Mrs. W. D. Ferguson, of Laurens, S. C., the guest of Mrs. Harold Rogers, was the central figure at a small tea at the Piedmont Driving club Tuesday afternoon.

A silver basket of pink roses occupied the center of the tea table and surrounding this were candlesticks holding pink tapers and compots of crystallized fruits and pink and white mints.

Mrs. Rogers was gowned in black chiffon velvet and a hat to match. Mrs. Ferguson wore black velvet elaborately beaded with cut steel beads and a black hat.

Miss Owens and Mr. Black Are Central Figures at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grady Black entertained at dinner Tuesday evening at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. Allen, on East Fifteenth street in compliment to Miss Theodora Owens and Charles Harman Black, Jr., whose marriage will be an event of brilliance Wednesday evening, January 16, at the Ponce de Leon Avenue Baptist church.

The reception rooms of the home were artistic with large bowls and vases of fragrant spring flowers as decorations. The handsomely appointed table had as the centerpiece an exquisite silver basket of yellow jonquils and narcissi. Silver candlesticks held yellow lighted tapers and the guests' places were marked by miniature lace.

brides and grooms. An imported cloth of Madeira lace and Italian cut work adorned the table.

Covers were placed for the members of the bridal party, including Miss Owens, Mr. Black, Misses Esther Hal-ton, of Fort Worth, Texas; Douglas Paine, Antoinette Smith, of Griffin, Ga.; Callie Orme, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Camden Owens, Mr. and Mrs. John Knox, Henry Grady, Jr., Sherman Boston, Richard Hickey, Craig Mathews, Dave Callings and Mr. and Mrs. Grady Black.

Mrs. Black wore a beautiful gown of rose velvet gracefully draped. Miss Owens was lovely in a costume of black chiffon combined with gold places were marked by miniature lace.

Ruth Benson, Miss Julia Anderson, Miss Emily Robinson, Miss Lucy Candler, Miss Evelyn Carmichael, Miss Margaret White, Miss La Trelle Smaw and Miss Hehrietta Tupper.

Mrs. Benson Honors Bride-Elect.

Mrs. Marlon Benson was hostess at a bridge-luncheon Tuesday at her home on Springdale road in compliment to her sister, Miss Hehrietta Davis, bride-elect of January.

Pink roses and narcissi held in vases and baskets adorned the lovely rooms where the game was played. Luncheon was served at the group tables. The honor guest was presented a bonfire lamp, while the winner of top score was presented a Japanese wall vase. The consolation prize was a flower bowl.

Mrs. H. C. Bagley assisted in entertaining. Mrs. Benson was gowned in dark blue crepe. Miss Davis' becoming costume was of pique tulle, embroidered, and worn with a felt hat.

The guests were Mrs. Julian Robinson, Mrs. Norman Coolidge, Mrs. Herman Evans, Mrs. H. C. Bagley, Mrs. Thomas Strickler, Mrs. Owen Perry, Mrs. P. C. McDuffie, Mrs. Edwin Lockridge, Miss Catherine Erwin, Miss Elizabeth Owen, Miss Elizabeth Kontz, Miss Dorothy Hoidich, Miss

Murphy—McGrath.

Savannah, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—The marriage of Miss Jule Murphy, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Murphy, to Lawrence F. McGrath, of Lowell, Mass., took place this morning at 8 o'clock with a nuptial mass at the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist. The Rev. Father Foley, vicar general of the parish, officiating.

DAVISON-PAXON-STOKES Co

Today--A Sale of Lovely

Corduroy and Quilted Silk ROBES

At Uniform Reductions of

1/3 Off the Regular Prices

Corduroy Robes—in canary, tan, copen, orchid and rose. Some are in draped effects—some have long roll collars and belts—some are finished with quilted satin collars, cuffs and pockets.

$7.95 Robes Are	$5.30
$8.95 Robes Are	$5.97
$10.95 Robes Are	$7.30
$12.50 Robes Are	$8.34
$15.00 Robes Are	$10.00

Padded Robes—filled with finest wool—of quilted crepe de chine and satin. Choice from orchid, rose, light blue, copen, pink, American beauty, purple, peach, black and turquoise trimmed in orchid or gold.

$20.00 Robes Are	$13.34
$25.00 Robes Are	$16.67
$35.00 Robes Are	$23.34
$40.00 Robes Are	$26.67
$50.00 Robes Are	$33.34

Special Buying Brings These Extra Good Savings in the Corset Dept.

Brocaded Corsets and Girdles $1.95

Corsets and Girdles $2.95

A collection of new girdles—just received—specially bought and therefore priced at much less than real value. They are made of alternate sections of brocade and wide elastic. Pink. Sizes range from 26 to 36. Genuine quality in every particular. Very unusual at this sale price. $1.95

This price gives choice from low bust corsets of pink brocade—long hips and black boning, including an eight-yard silk lacer. Also beautiful girdles of silk brocade—straight or with elastic tops. Values that you don't run across every day, at today's very special price $2.95

Third Floor

Keely's January Sale of Fine LINGERIE

Picture, if you will, great piles of snowy white undergarments, and delectable things in all the favorite pastel shades. Such adorable styles, such lovely laces, and such dainty touches of handwork!

They are just out of their boxes, fresh from the hands of their makers, and are offered in our January Sales at prices that are exceptionally low. Every woman will delight in the glorious choice, and at the same time realize the wisdom of supplying her needs NOW.

At $1.00

Teddies of striped and plain voile, also dainty checked voile in woven effect. Flesh, orchid, peach, blue and white, many hemstitched in contrasting colors.

At $1.25

The famous "Willa-Loom" Gowns made of fine, soft batiste and finished with dainty pin tucks. Hemstitching and real hand-made lace. Also Willa-Loom Crepe Gowns in flesh and white.

Willa-Loom Teddies of fine soft batiste, trimmed in real hand-made filet lace and medallions. Others with dainty tucks and French knots.

Gowns of white nainsook with dainty frills around neck and sleeves of colored voile. Also crepe gowns in plain colors and novelty checks, all tailored styles.

Vests and Stepins of plain crepe, rajah and society voiles in white and colors.

Princess Slips of fine white longcloth with deep hem, embroidery scalloped top and shoulder straps.

At $1.50

Willa-Loom Gowns and Teddies in the most bewitching styles, all of them trimmed in hand-made filet edge and medallions. Material is that fine, soft, silky batiste found in all Willa-Loom garments.

At $1.98

Slipover Gowns of softest nainsook trimmed with dainty Val lace and embroidery.

Novelty Crepe Gowns, tailored models with wide banded tops in contrasting colors. Some are in stripes, others in plain colors.

Teddies of fine nainsook with narrow lace and tucks, sometimes combined with dainty embroidered medallion effects.

At $2.50

Novelty Teddies, made of a silk and cotton lace weave cloth in colors of orchid, flesh and peach. Tailored styles with hemstitching, and attractively finished with a dainty satin ribbon bow.

Willa-Loom Teddies of brocade seco silk in flesh, daintily hemstitched and finished with hand-made filet lace.

Pajamas of novelty crepe in orchid, pink and light blue, trimmed in bands of contrasting colors.

At $3.00

Novelty hand-made Gowns in colored crepes and basket weaves, hand-embroidered in the most exquisite designs. The sleeves and neck hand-couched to match the yoke design. Feminine and charming gowns that will make an instant appeal to the dainty woman.

Included in this sale is a wonderful assortment of fine silk underwear: gowns, teddies, step-ins and vests in tailored or lace trimmed styles, variously priced from $2.95 and up to $19.75.

Clearance of Undergarments Values to $2.50

87c

We have arranged a big table of women's splendid undergarments—odds and ends left from former sales—at prices less than cost of materials, for a quick clearance. Included are:

- Slipover gowns with dainty lace-trimmed yokes.
- Teddies in tailored styles with lace edge and medallion trimming.
- Petticoats with deep embroidery flounce, both medium and large sizes.
- Drawers, big, roomy styles; some in circular styles, with lace or embroidery trimming.
- Step-ins and Vests of striped batiste, voile and nainsook.

Long-Sleeve Gowns $1.75 to $2.98

We have a big variety of women's muslin gowns with high neck and long sleeves—gowns generous in width and length, at $1.75 to $2.98.

Porto Rican Undies $1.95

Hand-drawn and hand-made Gowns and Teddies, the work done by the native women of Porto Rico. Material is a soft, fine nainsook.

Underwear Section—2nd Floor

KEELY'S

DAILY CALENDAR OF WOMEN'S MEETINGS

The West End Study class, will meet with Mrs. W. E. Mansfield, 130 Peoples street, this morning at 10:45 o'clock.

The annual meeting of the Travelers Aid will be held in assembly room in the chamber of commerce building this morning at 10 o'clock. An address will be given by Rev. J. B. Mitchell, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist church.

The regular monthly meeting of the Spring Street Parent-Teacher association will meet in the school auditorium today at 3 o'clock.

The Crew Street P.T. A. will hold its regular monthly meeting this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, in the school auditorium.

The regular monthly meeting of the Luckie Street School P.T. A. will be held in the school auditorium this afternoon at 2:30.

There will be a meeting of the William Bass Junior High Parent-Teacher association at the Moreland Avenue school this evening at 8 o'clock.

The regular monthly meeting of the Samuel M. Inman Parent-Teacher association will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The regular meeting of the George W. Adair Parent-Teacher association will be held in the school auditorium this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The regular monthly meeting of the DeMolay Mothers' auxiliary will be held at chamber of commerce assembly room No. 2 this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. A. W. Harrington will lead the regular meeting of the Atlanta Truth center at Carnegie library this morning at 11 o'clock. She will also lead the evening class at 6 o'clock.

The annual meeting and election of officers of the Atlanta Registered Nurse club will be held today at 3 o'clock at the club rooms, 346 North Boulevard.

A regular meeting of Oglethorpe chapter, No. 122, Order of the Eastern Star, will be held in the new Masonic temple on Peachtree road at Buckhead this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

North Side Embroidery club will meet with Mrs. R. J. Hudson, on Peachtree Circle this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

HEARTS AFIRE

BY MAY CHRISTIE
The Brilliant Novelist of Modern Society.

INSTALLMENT 15.

A Wall-Flower.

Winston Towers was gay with lights and music and delightful frocks and the laughter of excited guests. The ball was actually in progress. Great banks of flowers from the hot-houses were massed at one end of the dance room, giving out a heady fragrance, and almost concealing the orchestra which had come to grace the great occasion. Colored electric lamps peeped out from festoons of smilax on the walls, and dangled from long chains of flowers and greenery that were slung like ropes across the huge room. The parquet floor was slippery as a sheet of ice, and "gave" delightfully under the tireless feet of the dancers. "Quite an Arabian Night scene!" remarked an elderly, stout gentleman to Miss Prudence Page, who, with a palpitating heart and straining eyes, was standing, back to the wall, and gazing, among that kaleidoscopic throng for one glimpse of him who had become everything to her.

"Yes, yes," she vaguely answered, searching feverishly. Where was he? Why didn't he come, when he knew that she was here?

"There goes the loveliest young woman in America," went on the complacent voice beside her. "The toast of town, Virginia Dale. A beauty, isn't she?"

"Yes, yes." A pang shot through the girl's heart at that name. Virginia, in an iridescent gown that held every gleaming color of the rainbow and that clung to her lovely figure like the fish-scales on a mermaid, floated by in the arms of old Clyde Guermere, the richest man for miles around.

He was gazing into her eyes in a fascinated fashion, to the obvious irritation of his stout, plain wife who was standing, near Miss Prudence, staring at the spectacle of her lord and master's enraptured, with tight and angry lips.

"Old termagant, isn't he?" murmured the elderly man on Prudence's left. "But who can blame us old codgers for taking a fling occasionally?" And he ogled Prudence in a hopeful manner.

But the girl was dull, he finally decided, after several fruitless sallies that he didn't turn up soon, she'd go straight to Mrs. Vanstarr, who was flitting from room to room, like a hysterical peacock, greening her feathers and calling greetings here and there, and she'd ask where Bert was.

Prudence didn't even see his going, so intent was she on finding Bert. Where on earth was he? Was he ill? If he didn't turn up soon, she'd go straight to Mrs. Vanstarr, who was flitting from room to room, like a hysterical peacock, greening her feathers and calling greetings here and there, and she'd ask where Bert was.

30 years doing good

KONDON'S CATARRHAL JELLY

for Coughs, Colds, Chronic Catarrh

20 treatment tin FREE KONDON, MINNEAPOLIS, MINN.

Blunders

Sloppy habits are indicated here. What BLUNDER do you see?

The answer will be found among today's want ads.

Unique Program Will Mark Appearance of Ignaz Friedman At Box Parties At Concert Today

Considerable gratification has been expressed by members of the Atlanta Music club and other music lovers of the city over the unique program which is to be given by Ignaz Friedman, the famous Polish pianist, who makes his first Atlanta appearance on Saturday afternoon at 3:00, at the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's club.

The first of three divisions of the program is devoted to the older masters, two with modern transcriptions. The second part is entirely given to the works of Chopin; and it is this group which has been hailed with particular delight by the local musicians because of the fact that Friedman is an acknowledged authority on the interpretation of his fellow Pole's beautiful compositions.

The third section deals with recent works for the piano, of which the two which have created the most enthusiasm are by the pianist himself. Mr. Friedman had not been hailed as a composer, but the fact is now revealed that he has been an ardent writer of piano compositions for a number of years, and the large bulk of his work is attested by the fact that one of the numbers which he will play is numbered as Opus 43.

The program is also considered eminently suitable to the performance in such a delightfully intimate hall as the Woman's club auditorium. Advance inquiries indicate that there will be a capacity house of the leading music lovers of the city present to hear Mr. Friedman's local debut. No advance reservations are being sold; but those who have not already subscribed to the Series Intime, in which the concert is being given, can secure admission by paying two dollars at the door Saturday afternoon.

YAARAB CHANTERS ELECT OFFICERS AT MEET TONIGHT

Yaarab Chanters will hold their annual dinner meeting at the Hotel Ansley Wednesday night at 7 o'clock. Officers will be elected at the meeting for the coming year and reports made of the Chanters' charity funds during 1923. Another feature of the dinner meeting will be the reading of an outline of the Chanters' plans for the coming year.

The Chanters is the singing organization of Yaarab Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, and one of the best aggregations of its kind in the nation.

To avoid her—Prudence—his girl—his sweetheart—whom he'd vowed he loved?

She couldn't stand it any longer, and hurried through the dancers to wards him, overtaking him by the door.

"Bert!" Her breath caught in a little sound that was half laugh, half sob. "Bert! How funny! You didn't see me dead?"

He halted, a queer expression on his good-looking face.

"So it's you, Prudence, is it? No, I didn't see you. What an ill-made frock she's got on!"

"But—but you looked directly at me, Bert. No, I haven't been dancing. I'm not sure if I could do those steps."

He stared at her critically, poised for flight, but uncertain how to get away. She read his thought, and a great lump rose to her throat, but she couldn't say another word, but just stood there in the doorway, looking dumbly at the man she loved.

A gold-toothed negro in the orchestra was chanting a queer ditty. It had a peculiar applicability to her present plight.

"Yo' gotta see Sweetie e-very night, Or yo' can't see Sweetie a-tall!"

A couple cannoned into her, so that she nearly lost her balance, and stumbled awkwardly against young Traymore.

"Steady! You're in the way here." His tones were gruff.

"In the way?" was she? Yes, she knew it. Her face burned with shame. Why had she come where nobody wanted her? Her mother had spoken rightly when she'd said that these people weren't "in her walk of life" at all. She was out of place, and even Bert—her sweetheart—realized it.

The frock that she and her mother and Miss Jiggs had worn with such care and pride was "counterfitted" beside the other lovely gowns, and out-of-date.

"I'll find a partner for you," Traymore saying, in an irritated tone of voice. "Don't look so woebegone. Here, Jones, I want to present you to Miss Page."

"Sorry, I'm booked knee deep." And Jones slid by, as slippery as an eel.

"Then you, Trivas, I want you to meet Miss Page."

"Delighted, I'm sure. Now if you'll excuse me, Miss Page, I'll have to go off and find my partner." Travis disappeared.

It was the last straw that broke her fortitude.

"And I, too, I'm booked, with Jinny, for this dance," said Traymore awkwardly. "Awfully sorry, Prue, but I must leave you. See you later on."

With a little sob of misery, the girl stumbled through the hall and out into the darkness of the night.

In Tomorrow's installment Prudence is rescued again.

(Copyright, 1923, for The Constitution)

The recital to be given at 3 o'clock this afternoon by the Trio de Ragini in the Atlanta Woman's club auditorium will be sponsored by the Fine Arts club. There will be many box parties and additional features which will make the occasion a highly enjoyable one.

The Spiker Players, under the chaperonage of Mrs. William Claer Spiker, will occupy a stage box.

Mrs. Paul Seydel, of New York, will be the central figure in other box party.

Others occupying boxes will be Mrs. Winship Nunnally, Mrs. Joel Hurt, Jr., Mrs. Marshall Johnson, Mrs. Lawrence Willet, Mrs. James Ragan, Mrs. Ewell Gay, Mrs. Wilmer Moore, Mrs. W. H. Kiser, Mrs. W. D. Ellis, Jr., Mrs. Robert Maddox, Mrs. Henry Inman, Mrs. J. D. Osborne, Mrs. H. B. Thompson, Mrs. R. B. Troutman and Mrs. Brooks Morgan.

A group of young girls who will act as ushers will be dressed in Oriental costumes. They will include Mrs. Jacquelin Moore, Miss Harriet Grant, Miss Marion Cobb Bryan, Miss Ann Ridler, Miss Cosmella Orme, Miss Elizabeth Thompson, Miss Jane Sharp, Miss Margaret Underwood, Miss Marion Porter and Miss Ann Faulkner. Their Oriental costumes were of green velvet, trimmed with gold fringe. Bracelets, anklets and colorful chiffon veils will complete the effect.

Mrs. Rolleston Entertains For Son.

Mrs. Rolleston entertained Monday afternoon at her home "Woodcrest," on Muscogee road, in compliment to her young son, Moreton Mountford, Jr., on his 6th birthday.

Miss Ann Noble and Master Jack Chambers won the prizes for pinning the donkey tail. Each child received lovely favors.

Big Damage Suits Echo of Auto Crash Late in September

Tracy R. Engle, widely known Atlanta business man, Tuesday was named defendant in two damage suits aggregating $45,000, filed in the city court as the outgrowth of a fatal automobile crash on Peachtree road, on the night of September 29.

One plaintiff was Mrs. Pauline Coulter Finch, who sued for $35,000 for the death of her husband, Ralph Finch, who lost his life when Engle's machine crashed into a telephone pole, and the other suit for $10,000 was filed by Mrs. Lottie W. Farmer, another passenger, who was seriously injured.

Plaintiffs allege that Engle was driving at a speed of 60 to 70 miles per hour when the crash occurred.

MISTRIAL FOR NEGRO ACCUSED OF ROBBERY

A mistrial was declared in Fulton superior court Tuesday in the case of Will Carter, negro, accused of robbing Max Bryant, a Hilliard street merchant, of approximately $60.

Carter was represented by Attorney Reuben A. Garland. He contended that he was busy with his duties as porter for a local clothing store at the time Bryant claims to have been locked in a large butcher's refrigerator and robbed.

Eatmor

Buy 8 pounds of CRANBERRIES and make 10 glasses of delicious jelly!

CRANBERRY JELLY

Cook until soft the desired quantity of cranberries with 1 1/2 pints of water for each two quarts of berries. Strain the juice through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and heat it to the boiling point. Add one cup of sugar for every two cups of juice; strain the sugar is dissolved, boil briskly for five minutes; skim, and pour into glass tumblers, porcelain or crockery molds.

Recipe Folder Sent Free American Cranberry Exchange 26 West Broadway, New York

Cranberries

A Most Unusual Clearance

Muslin Underwear For Children and Misses

Serving notice to mothers of a most important event—the first clearance in a year or more — of muslin and hand-made underwear for girls of all ages. Such an opportunity so seldom occurs that mothers will buy wisely who buy a plentiful outfit for the spring and summer ahead.

Sizes Range 2 to 16 Years

Some of the lots are small, and size ranges, of course, are broken. Some items are plentiful.

Reductions are generous—in some instances as low as half price!

Teddies, 95c—formerly $1.25 to $1.50—attractively lace trimmed.

Teddies, $1.49—formerly $1.95 to $2.50—finer and more elaborate.

Petticoats, 49c—formerly 98c to $1.25—tucked and lace trimmed.

Bloomers, 95c—formerly $1.25 and $1.50—lingette and saten in pink or white.

Bloomers, 49c—formerly 75c—of a nice grade white cotton crepe.

Pajamas, $1.95—formerly $2.98—of white cotton crepe, trimmed in blue.

Pajamas, $2.95—formerly $4.95—a small lot of fine pink lingette.

Princess Slips, 95c—formerly $1.19 to $1.50—ruffled, with lace edge at top.

Princess Slips, $1.49—formerly $1.75 to $1.95—more elaborately trimmed.

Princess Slips, $1.95—formerly $2.50 to $2.95—finer qualities and trimmings.

Princess Slips, $3.95—formerly $4.95 to $5.50—very dainty and beautifully trimmed.

Gowns—in both high neck, low sleeve, or low neck, no sleeve models. Tailored or lace and embroidery trimmed.

Gowns, 95c—formerly $1.25 to $1.75.

Gowns, $1.49—formerly $1.95 to $2.50.

Gowns, $1.95—formerly $2.75 to $3.95.

Pants, 25c—plain muslin with tucks or hem-stitched ruffles.

Pants, 39c—formerly 45c and 55c—lace or embroidery trimmed.

Pants, 49c—formerly 59c and 69c—with lace insertion and edging.

Pants, 75c—formerly 89c—more elaborate with lace or embroidery.

Pants, 95c—formerly $1.25 and $1.50—more elaborately trimmed models.

Pants, $1.49—formerly $1.95 to $2.75—quite fine materials and laces.

Juvenile Section—Second Floor

The Annual Clearance of Things Beautiful For the Home Half Price or Less

On Lamps, Shades, China and Glassware, Baskets, Novelties

The offerings are too numerous to give more than a brief mention to each group.

Whoever has a home or a room to improve with things useful and beautiful will surely find much of interest here.

Lamps are mostly priced without shades—just a small group of small and medium sizes for table, desk or bedside.

$4.50 to $21.00 lamps, $2.25 to $10.50. A small group of floor lamps, $17.50 to $39.50 lamps, $8.75 to $18.50.

Shades for floor stands and all small sizes—many colors and models in the sale. $1.00 to $27.50 shades.50c to $13.75

Smokers' Articles—ash trays and sets, cigarette boxes and jars, tobacco jars and novelties. 65c to $7.50 items.30c to $3.75

Hand-wrought iron candlesticks with ash tray and match holder, $1.15 and $2.00 at regular price, are reduced to.25c and 50c

Pottery—American, Italian and English art potteries in bowls, vases and sets for buffet or table. 50c to $35.00 pieces and sets, in the sale at.25c to $17.50

Baskets of varied kinds, most of them hand-decorated—waste baskets, fancy work and shopping or market baskets. $1.00 to $14.50 baskets.50c to $6.50

Glasswares—odd pieces for table use, compots, bowls, jars, table and buffet sets. A small lot of stem ware in dozens. $2.25 to $22.50 pieces and sets, in the sale at. $1.10 to $11.25

Fancy China—odd pieces, bowls, tea sets—most of it at less than half price. $2.50 to $19.50 pieces and tea sets, on sale at. $1.25 to $8.50

On the Third Floor

You Know Well the Best Rugs and Draperies

Come From

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Company

McCarty Incog

By Isabel Ostrander.

NEXT WEEK: "THE BURNING PILGRIMAGE," By Guy H. B. Dem.

(Continued From Yesterday.)
The corner nodded. "She was a friend of the Hatherlys, a Miss Wall."
"Great God!" The cry seemed wrung from the man. "It was true, then—Great God!" For an instant longer he stared and then suddenly, pulling himself together, he swung the wheel, turned and rushed off at a mad pace in the direction from which he had come.

"That was Mr. Gilbert Norris," the corner explained. "He knows the Hatherlys and maybe he met Miss Wall at their home last week. Keeps bachelor hall in an old house he owns up by the Barnstable road and they do say there are high jinks when he brings a party of men out from town. Card playing till morning and then, too, but the constable ain't ever been able to catch him restocking his cellar, though he's been laying for him all summer."

CHAPTER V.

McCarty Explores.

Back in the corner's office an hour later, McCarty said to the doctor: "I'd like you to send a telegram to a party I've heard of, that might bring results. It'd have to be worded just as I tell you though, even if you don't understand it and I'll ask for your promise never to let on to a soul within you got the dope on it."
"I'll be mighty glad to send it," the corner responded heartily. "Who is it going to?"

"To Inspector Druet, police headquarters, New York." The name of his old superior came affectionately from McCarty's lips. "Just say this, doctor: 'Confidential information wanted: Randolph's old shop New York, Great Harrington, Breston Woods, Bar Harbor, Boston, Rush.' Sign it with your own name as corner here and fix it with the operator in Plimptonport to send the answer to him in some way by messenger instead of showing it. Tell him to get it here as quick as ever it comes over the wires."

"His boy Jim can bring it on his motorcycle."
After the corner had rattled off in his dilapidated car McCarty crossed to a small shop, the fly-specked window of which bore a tobacco sign. A scrawny little woman came slowly forward as he entered.

"Good morning, ma'am," McCarty bowed. "It's cigars I'm looking for."
"These is all I got," she placed a dusty box listlessly on the counter. McCarty opened the box and glanced in spirit as its contents met his gaze, but he made his selection, conscious that her eyes were fixed upon him with a new expression and that she had backed away a step or two. He had evidently been recognized, and he spoke of the murder.

"What—what was Ed Bartlett doing himself down on the shore so late," he asked, "she asked, "No, ma'am. Guess nobody thought to ask in the excitement. Hops they find out who killed her—"
He was about to add more when a door at the back of the shop opened and a fisherman slouched in. "Sussie, something's livin' over," he announced. "Hain't ye got notin' better to do an' no better sense'n to haint-tattle all day with folks that hain't got no business of their own to mind?"

"I—I was only makin' change, Eph," she protested meekly. "Here 'tis, mister."
"Thank you, ma'am," McCarty pocketed his loose silver and left the shop without a second glance at the lowering fisherman. The woman had been plainly afraid of him but she seemed more afraid of the man who had entered, and his curiosity was aroused.

He had not long to dwell upon it, for as he crossed the common toward the highroad he heard an odd, throaty chuckle and looking about he saw a strange figure standing in the shade of a dejected clump of shrubbery. He was holding something between his hands which glinted when the sunlight touched it. McCarty recognized Sol Whitaker, the village idiot, and strode toward him. "Hello, Sol," he said genially. "What have you got there?"

"The creature promptly put his hands behind him. 'Findin' keepin's,' he cackled. 'Woman dropped it when she run. Why don't ye run? Kiddy-buddy's scart o' old Sol.'
"I'm not," McCarty laughed. "Come on, let's see what you found and I'll give you a quarter." He drew out a quarter and held it before the vacuous eyes, which had taken on an avid gleam.
"Gal run 'long there," Sol gasped, "tured with a hairy hand toward the cart track which led to the village. 'It was jus' afore the squall broke, t'other night. I see it shine when she dropped it.'"

His fingers closed over the coin and with the other hand he dangled before McCarty's eyes an object which caused the latter to grant in disgust. It was a cheap rhinestone slipper buckle and although it glistened bravely in the sunshine its tawdriness was manifest. Mrs. Wall would have worn nothing like that, McCarty continued on his way. He intended to follow the highroad to a point beyond the little settlement and then skirt around the salt marshes in the direction of the shack on the Point. He had gone scarcely a dozen yards along the highway when a powerful motor roared along behind him from the west, and he stepped aside just as a big red car flashed past with Gilbert Norris at the wheel. His clean-shaven, good-looking face was convulsed by some violent emotion and he drove with a reckless speed which betokened a turbulent mind; yet the brief glimpse of the man brought with it again that vague sense of familiarity.

McCarty proceeded parallel with the shore until the cluster of cottages and rolling sand dunes stretched south to the sound. Leaving the highway, he struck out across them, fixing his course slightly westward again so as to come out approximately in the rear of the shack in which the murder had taken place. He had miscalculated the distance, however, and soon found himself floundering on the edge of the salt marsh. Disgusted, he was seeking a way out of the morass when all at once he discerned a double track, faint but unmistakable, which wound its path along a circuitous route toward the shore on what was apparently a ridge of firmer ground. The automobile tires nor could any car have plowed through the marsh, but the deep impress of horses' hoofs were visible here and there between them, and in spots where the soil gave place to a stretch of oozing bog it was evident that planks had been laid down.

CHAPTER VI.

"High Stakes."

McCarty returned to the Griscoms' and mounted the stairs to discover Dennis seated calmly in their room with his chair tilted back and his feet on the window sill.
"Where've you been?" demanded McCarty.

"To Plimptonport, for one, to get over the fever on her and then in the select establishments that run a separate room for ladies like her. Thinking of that kind of place made me call to mind old Randolph; when he was alive he ran a chain of the most exclusive houses of that kind this country ever saw, all around the fashionable resorts of the east where the wealthy go, and that's why I had you sent that telegram. Randolph's old shops are open again and going full blast in New York, Boston, Bretton Woods and Great Barrington, all except in Bar Harbor. Of course he had a lot of other places, too, but Mrs. Wall had been to New York and Boston and the three resorts and were the only places she signed 'bearer' checks since she started this book, though none in Bar Harbor. I don't say it has anything to do with the manner of her death but it's my opinion Mrs. Wall played for pretty high stakes and you wouldn't have to go far from here to find one man who knew it."

As soon as darkness fell McCarty and Dennis struck off across the common to the highroad.
"Who do you think I ran into right about here this morning?" asked McCarty. "That half-wit, Sol."
Dennis shivered. "He's a fearsome looking sawk!"

"But mild as a child, Dennis; I found him playing with a bit of a cheap slipper buckle." He was going on to tell of the woman who had run from the idiot just before the storm, but his companion interrupted. "That's funny! Millie, back at the cottage there, has lost the buckle of a slipper; I heard Mrs. Griscom saying to her what a pity it was, whilst I was waiting for you to come home this afternoon."

They came to the posts which marked the gateway to Norris' place. Lights glimmering between the trees showed the location of the house, and as they proceeded cautiously along the drive the baying of deep-throated dogs broke forth suddenly. But the climor gradually subsided and they went on, keeping carefully to the grass which bordered the drive until they were within a few yards of the house. Then they stopped and stood blinking in the sudden glare of light which had burst forth upon them. A curt, authoritative voice sounded in their ears. "What do you want here?"

"We're looking to call on a Mr. Gilbert Norris, if this is the right place," McCarty advanced a step or two, and as his eyes became accustomed to the transition from darkness he made out the figure of a man standing on the veranda before the opened door. The illumination which had been turned upon them came from a huge searchlight over the steps. "I'm Norris. What do you want to see me about?"

"We've come from the Cove," Doctor Allen said, Mr. Norris, McCarty explained. "Likely you saw us in the car with him yesterday when you stopped him to ask about the lady who was killed. We'd like a few words with you if it's convenient."

"Of course. Come in," Their host switched off the great light and led them into the wide, low-ceilinged hall. He turned to the right and threw open a door. "We'll go in here. Take a seat, gentlemen."

The room into which he ushered them was cozily lighted and spacious. "That's a bad business, that murder," McCarty remarked as he and Dennis seated themselves. "The corner was good enough to let us in on the investigation with him."

"Very interesting, I am sure," their host responded dryly. "However, I'm afraid I won't be able to render any assistance to Dr. Allen and yourself. I was shocked by the affair because I met Mrs. Wall at the Hatherlys' on several occasions."

"It must have been a surprise to find her there," McCarty observed. "How long have you known her, Mr. Norris?"

Norris shook his head with a slight smile of disclaimer. "I was presented to the lady, naturally, the first time I called after her arrival. Has any one given the corner an impression that she was an acquaintance of mine?"

"Yes. It wasn't the Hatherlys, since they didn't know it themselves, but they're a staff of servants with sharp eyes and ears."

"Lord bless my soul!" Norris laughed amusedly. "Has our good doctor been listening to servants' gossip? My dear fellow, go back to him and tell him that I never saw the lady until I met her at the Hatherlys."

"I couldn't do that, Mr. Norris," McCarty had been studying their host's face intently and now he smiled to himself as he added quietly: "You see, he got a tip from somewhere else besides to trace some checks for heavy sums she'd made payable to 'bearer' during the last few months and found that you and she had a lot of mutual friends in a different set from the Hatherlys—the kind of friends, some of them, the'll squeal. I used to tell Billy Randolph myself in the old days that it was a mistake to take checks from a woman especially if she happened to be a steady patron."

"If Mrs. Wall and I had any mutual friends we did not discover the fact in our brief chats, but it wouldn't be surprising."

Continued Tomorrow.

THE GUMPS—FACE TO FACE

marked the gateway to Norris' place. Lights glimmering between the trees showed the location of the house, and as they proceeded cautiously along the drive the baying of deep-throated dogs broke forth suddenly. But the climor gradually subsided and they went on, keeping carefully to the grass which bordered the drive until they were within a few yards of the house. Then they stopped and stood blinking in the sudden glare of light which had burst forth upon them. A curt, authoritative voice sounded in their ears. "What do you want here?"

SOMEBODY'S STENOG—Mary Doodle's Romance

Mickey (Himself) McGuire

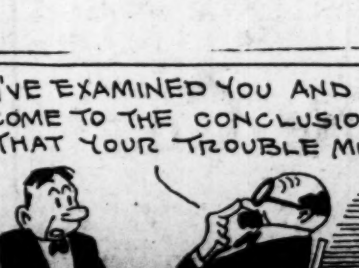

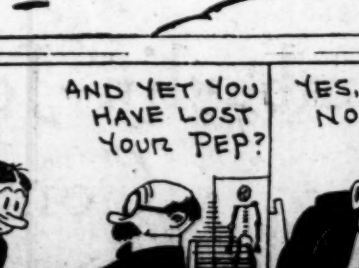

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feeling

By Briggs

JUST NUTS

THERE WAS A GIRL NAMED SMITH THAT WAS MARRIED TO DRY, WAS SHE A RELATION?

SAMMY SANDOZ RUNS OUT OF BOUT WITH LEW SILVER

Pirate Team in 1901 Best of All Time---Vagner Will Be Staged Instead

Six Straight Shut-Outs Among Accomplishments; Great Names on Roster

BY HANS WAGNER.

One of the oddities in what you might call the literature of baseball is that the Pittsburgh club of 1901-02-03 is seldom mentioned by writers in discussing the great ball teams of past years.

I have been asked for my opinion on the subject and I come right out in the open in saying the Pirates, who won the pennant in those years were about the best ball club I ever have seen before or afterward.

I know that the Orioles were great, that the Cubs, the Athletics and the Giants were also great. I'm taking nothing away from them, but I do think the writing fellows, who go for famous baseball men, too have overlooked the one best bet.

That team was not only good enough to win three pennants but it did it after a big slice of the stars had been taken away by the American league. Just then getting its start, the Pirates of 1901 were made up of a lot of young fellows who played for the team as a whole and never thought of their personal records. It's the only ball club I ever have seen where every man could be depended upon to do his part when called on. Nobody on the club ever thought, "Now, if we only had somebody in that fellow's place." No, they thought every man on the club the right man for his job. That means a lot.

On that team it was a case of follow the lead. Fred Clarke, the leader, was playing such a whirlwind game then that he seemed to carry all the players along in the same style.

Why, on that 1901 club we lost enough good players to make up a pretty fair club in any league. Still, we had the spirit and went right on winning just the same. Just by accident I have the box score of the game which decided the pennant. You might be interested in looking at it.

Here it is:

Historic Box Score.

PITTSBURGH.....ab. r. h. po. a. e.
Davis, R. 3 0 1 3 1 0
Clarke, F. 3 1 0 2 0 0
Beaumont, E. 4 1 3 0 0 0
Wagner, S. 4 2 2 1 3 1
Bransfield, J. 4 0 2 9 1 0
Ritchey, J. 4 1 1 10 1 0
Leach, J. 1 0 0 1 0 0
Burke, B. 3 0 1 4 3 2
Zimmer, C. 3 1 1 1 2 0
Phillippe, P. 2 0 0 2 0 0

Totals 31 5 10 27 15 4

BROOKLYN.....ab. r. h. po. a. e.
Keeler, R. 5 1 0 0 0 0
Sheekard, R. 5 1 0 0 0 0
Dolan, E. 4 0 2 2 0 1
Kelley, J. 4 1 1 10 1 0
Daly, J. 4 0 1 2 3 0
Dahlen, S. 4 1 2 5 6 1
Irwine, B. 3 0 0 1 3 0
Farrell, C. 4 0 1 2 2 0
Kison, P. 4 1 2 0 1 0

Totals 37 4 10 24 16 2

Score by innings—
Pittsburgh..... 011 000 035—5
Brooklyn..... 010 001 200—4

Summary: Three-base hits, Davis; sacrifice hits, Phillippe, Irwin; stolen bases, Beaumont, Wagner, Kelley; double plays, Burke and Bransfield, Dahlen and Kelley, Daley, Dahlen and Kelley; base on balls, Ed Kison; 2 struck out, by Phillippe, 2 by Kison; 2 umpires, Emslie, Time, 1:35. Attendance, 3,500.

Now don't those names bring back memories to you old fans? The Brooklyn club was a mighty strong outfit then and this game put them out of the running. They had previously been the champions.

We beat Brooklyn out by simply running away with the game. We had the greatest base running outfit I ever saw. Our system was to take an extra base on every hit when there was even a half a chance. We ran bases all the time and if a runner got on first you could be sure he was going to pull something. As a result we had the other clubs up in the air.

Six Shut-Outs.
That same team, which won the pennant again in 1903 as well as 1902, established a world's record for shut-outs. We shut out our opponents six times in succession. I happen to have the record in my scrap book. Look:

June 2—Pittsburgh 7, New York 0.
June 4—Pittsburgh 5, Boston 0.
June 5—Pittsburgh 9, Boston 0.
June 6—Pittsburgh 5, Boston 0.
June 7—Pittsburgh 2, Philadelphia 0.
June 8—Pittsburgh 5, Boston 0.

We were on the way to a seventh shut-out in the next game; it went to the seventh inning when Roy Thomas hit on an outfield fly.

Now, if that wasn't a great ball club I'd like to see one. No other club ever had pitchers work like that or ever made any such record.

Mind you, we had lost some of our best men when we did that. In 1902 several players went to the American league and made great records there. Among them was Harry Smith, a great catcher—one of the best in the world at holding runners on base.

Another great man we lost was Jack Chesbro, who went to the New York Americans, then just starting, and made a wonderful record. Chesbro was called Happy Jack, and rightly so. He had a wonderful disposition and was always ready to pitch. He had wonderful speed with a jump on his fast ball. Later he picked up a spittball and got famous with it. He is supposed to be the first pitcher to develop the spittball perfectly.

Lightning Ball Ever Thrown.
There were some men on that team who made my Grand All-American team and several others who came pretty near it. Take Tommy Leach, for instance. There was a great third baseman, despite his small stature. Then Claude Ritchey was at second. He caught the home run I ever saw in picking up ground balls between the bases. Nothing seemed to fool him. Claude was never a great hitter except in the clutch. There is when you could bet on him. That is why the fans gave him the name of Little All-Right.

Chief Zimmer was also on that team, leaving in 1902. The Chief threw the lightest ball to second I ever handled. You could catch it without a glove. The man who is not a baseball player probably does not know that some players throw what is known as a heavy ball. It drops in the glove like a ton of lead.

Just why I don't know and I never knew anybody else that knew. There have been some great basemen and shortstops, who threw such a heavy ball to first that the baseman could hardly hold it.

Other players were Schoolmaster, Jesse Tannehill, Ed Doherty, pitcher; Jimmy Wehring, Ed Phelps, catcher; and Bill Kennedy, infielder (went to the American league in 1902); Jack O'Connor, Kity Crawford and others. We had another great player named Davis, who did not last long because he broke a leg.

Yes, I'd like to go on record as saying that the best ball club I ever saw.

In my next chapter I will give what I consider the all-star National League team for the past thirty years.

Tomorrow: The All-Star National League Team.

CARPENTIER TO ONLY FIGHT FOR RICKARD

Paris, January 8.—Georges Carpentier's manager is not considering the offer of Promoter Tommy Walsh, of Minneapolis, for a bout between Carpentier and Tommy Gibbons and has called Tex Rickard that the French fighter continues to be at Rickard's entire disposal, says the newspaper L'Express today.

Carpentier is waiting to know the result of the Tunney-McTigue fight before deciding on his departure for the United States.

Pollock & Berg Offer

Extraordinary SALE BANISTER Shoes RAY'S Good Shoes

The prices are so low they'll almost knock you off your feet on the finest grade WINTER OXFORDS and HIGH SHOES, right in the middle of the season.

See Our Windows

Tan and Black high shoes. Reg. $10.85. Sale price $14 and $15.

Tan and Black, imported Scotch grain and calfskin, also domestic calfskin.

Regular price $13 and $13.50

Ray's Winter Oxfords and High Shoes

Everything included, nothing reserved. College Oxfords, made for service, of Norwegian calf. Values to $11.00.

$4.85 - $6.85 - $7.85

Prompt Attention to Mail Orders

POLLOCK & BERG

Julian Ray 79-81 Peachtree Lamar Ray

BOYS' HIGH IS WINNER IN CONTEST

BY GORDON KEITH.

Boys' High made its first appearance on a basketball court this season Tuesday afternoon when the team defeated the Commercial High five on the J. P. C. court 25 to 17.

The Purple team had only one practice since school closed before the holidays, and the playing of the team was away below form.

The Commercial quintet played a better game than was expected, and kept the game close and interesting throughout.

The first over on Courtland street Sunday morning knocked the Gilmerites out of a perfectly good basketball court, besides several recitation rooms and a batch of recitation rooms.

The coach and manager got to work immediately, however, and has secured the use of the J. P. C. court for practice every morning until school starts again, and by that time a permanent court will probably have been secured.

Although Sandy Gibbs is the only man to return from the first five of last season, Coach Johnson has been able to line up a temporary varsity squad consisting of the prospects at the opening of the season.

The team is well fixed at the guard positions, having Gibbs and Roane, a letter man for the team, and a new man, a new man, is making good as another guard. At center, the services of last year's high point man, Ed Doherty, are being relied upon.

George was exactly right when he mentioned the loss of some of Tech's best. To begin with, Pinky Daves, captain of the 1923 team, will not run for Tech any more. Pinky is still in school, but has served his time on the track team. He is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Board Will Discuss Young Stribling Case

Macon, Ga., January 8.—(Special.)—"We have no row with the Striblings," said Judge A. L. Miller, president of the Bibb County Board of Education today, following publication of the fact that W. L. Stribling, Macon's school-boy pugilist, has been dropped from the roll of the Lanier High school for non-attendance.

"The young man is out of school of his own volition," C. H. Bruce, superintendent of schools, said the Stribling matter will undoubtedly receive the attention of the board of education at its meeting Thursday. Mr. Bruce says that while Stribling has been dropped from the rolls, his father has a right to appeal to the board of education for his reinstatement. Whether this will be done could not be learned today as the Striblings are in Miami, Fla. The Elder Stribling has threatened to move his family from Macon if W. L. is not permitted to attend school here.

TECH TRACK CANDIDATES REPORT TO COACH GRIFFIN

BY JOHN STANTON.

George Griffin, coach of the Georgia Tech track team, called his men together yesterday and asked them for the season which is now but a couple of months off. The call was issued primarily for the purpose of equipping the men with necessary regalia.

Coach Griffin briefly outlined his plans for the coming year and called upon all the men present to stand squarely behind him. He called attention to the fact that Tech lost some of her best men last year, and that the men who were present constituted the varsity track squad for the year 1924.

George was exactly right when he mentioned the loss of some of Tech's best. To begin with, Pinky Daves, captain of the 1923 team, will not run for Tech any more. Pinky is still in school, but has served his time on the track team. He is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

Then, Tech's best forward, Fred Rath, has been injured. Rath is a first-class half-mile, and an able leader. His loss will be keenly felt.

PLAN TO MAKE NEW TENNIS RULES

BY WALTER CAMP.

Copyright, 1924, by The Constitution. New York, January 8.—Did anyone ever realize how troublesome in all ages are the wayward feet?

The football rules committee has been endeavoring for some years to get control of them in the "jump shift" plays, and the national tennis associations of all countries have tried to shakele them behind the baseline in the tennis court.

This year they propose to make a still further attempt at the February meeting of the U. S. Lawn Tennis association. It is proposed to legislate that a man must have both feet behind the baseline that he can have only one off the ground when his racket strikes the ball—that he must be at rest on his feet outside the court when he takes his position to serve.

But they admit that slight movements of the feet will not be penalized. So there you are. Some one said of dancing that one was always awkward if he began to think about his feet.

Ticket Looks Good.
The ticket for the tennis officers' look good. George Wightman has been elected president. Paul Williams was the hustling assistant.

Welch Is Missing.
Welch, the best pole vaulter that Tech ever had, is another who will not appear on the field this spring. Welch has vaulted well over 12 feet in three or four jumps, and never failed to place in a meet of any kind. And, then comes Jimmy Brewster, high jumper of note. Jimmy is now in his old hometown, Newnan, Ga.

The loss of these men is liable to lower the standards of the track team this year unless the men who remain start to work in earnest and fill up the gaps. As Coach Griffin pointed out, there is only one thing which will make the team this year as good as last year, and that is hard work.

After the meeting the men went to the dressing room and received equipment. Long drawers were issued to each man, and they were instructed to wear them at practice as long as the cold weather continued.

Coach Griffin said that the men were not going to engage in much strenuous work until the exams were over. Then, the real work will begin.

The sign-out list goes into effect in March. By this time, Coach Griffin said, the team will definitely have its varsity squad and these men will be extended the sign-out privilege.

W. H. Letton Wins Trapshoot Prize

Pinehurst, N. C., January 8.—Tying for first place in class A, the second event of the day in the midwinter trapshoot here, Tracy H. Lewis, New York; G. S. McCarthy, Newfield, N. J., and W. G. Warren, of Chicago, each broke 135 birds out of 100. In the third place, William M. P. Howland, Philadelphia, was a close second with 150. A. M. Burr, Rockford, Ill., and J. B. Fontaine, Philadelphia, tied for third place with 147.

W. E. Enson, Tarboro, N. C., was winner in class C event with 143 birds; H. S. Seibert, Petersburg, Va., was second with 128, and W. Wade, Sandusky, Ohio, third with 124.

L. S. U. Quintet Loses 2nd Game

Baton Rouge, La., January 8.—The Louisiana State Tiger basketball team suffered its second consecutive defeat here tonight when the State Normal quintet routed them 33 to 10. L. S. U. showed flashes of good form at times, but poor shooting throughout the game prevented them from coming within close distance of the Normal team.

Normal was in great form, showing good fast passing and excellent shooting at times. Captain Stafford was their star with a total of eight field goals. Jones was the Tiger star with four field baskets.

Georgia Leaves For Carolinas

Athens, Ga., January 8.—(Special.) The university of Georgia team left early Wednesday morning on a three-day trip through South Carolina to open up their 1924 basketball season. They play Wednesday night against the University of South Carolina, Thursday against Furman and conclude the trip Friday night with the Clemson game.

The players were given a rest Monday afternoon after their return from the south Georgia engagements, but Tuesday afternoon they were hard at work ironing out the rough spots discovered in these games. Coach Stegman expressed himself as well satisfied with the showing made by his proteges during the pre-season games, and though not committing himself to this accept, seemed to believe that the Carolina invasion will be highly successful.

The following men made the trip: Gurr and Harris, centers; Richardson, Williams and Slatoff, forwards; and Bennett, Wiehrs and Miller, guards.

Grand Circuit Schedule Made

Syracuse, N. Y., January 8.—Goshen was officially invited to enter the grand circuit and stage a meeting on its mile track by the board of stewards in executive session here this afternoon. Goshen will stage its meeting starting August 18 and continuing until August 22 if this track decided to accept the invitation of the stewards. In the event the Goshen track turns down the invitation, Cleveland will take up the extra week and stage its meeting from August 11 to August 23. The official schedule for 1924 follows:

Cleveland, June 23 to July 5 (nine days).
Columbus, July 7 to 12 (five days).
Toledo, July 14 to 19 (five days).
Kalamazoo, July 21 to 26 (five days).
Windsor, July 28 to August 9 (six days; three each week).
Cleveland, August 11 to 16 (five days).
Goshen, August 18 to 23 (five days, pending).
Boston, August 25 to 30 (five days).
Hartford, September 1 to 6 (five days).
Syracuse, September 8 to 13 (five days).
Toledo, September 15 to 20 (five days).
Columbus, September 22 to October 2 (nine days).

O'Dowd vs. Claude Wilson Or Livey All-Star Card Will Be Staged Instead

BY HENRY ALLEN.

J. Walk Miller, who handles the affairs of Tiger Flowers, is not the only manager who has trouble securing opponents for his champions.

Max Abelson who has piloted Little Lew Silver since he was launched on his pugilistic career is the latest manager to spill his troubles around this office. And Sammy Sandow is the person who has caused all of this trouble to flock down on the head of Max Abelson.

As it had been announced, Sammy Sandow was to meet Lew Silver here at the city Auditorium January 16, and furthermore, Holt Gwiner and Eric Nelson, matchmakers for the Southern Athletic club, under whose auspices the bout was to be staged, have a telegram from Biddy Bishop, manager of Sandow, accepting the match and terms.

But Monday, after arrangements were going forward mapping out the preliminary card, news was received from Bishop that Sandow would be unable to box Silver here on the date planned, so Monday proved a busy time for the promoters and Max Abelson, trying to secure a suitable opponent for Silver.

Eddie Kid Wagner, the boy from Philadelphia, who has recently created a sensation, was the first boy offered the bout, but Wagner also has a guarantee to make the trip south, which was out of the question.

Sam Mandell was offered the bout, but he was slated to fight in Madison Square Garden on January 15, the day before the bout here, and it is impossible for him to show.

Then promoters turned to Frankie Garcia, the flashy little featherweight who is so popular in these parts, but has not appeared here since his knock-out by K. O. Jenks last summer.

A definite announcement as to the program will be made some time during today.

Thus from all indications Sammy Sandow, until he can give better reasons, has run out of the match with Silver and thus the Abelson protegee will not be able to appear in an Atlanta ring until next month, when Garcia will probably be his opponent.

Make Plans for Show.
But fans may yet have a show here on January 16, for the Southern Athletic club promoters have given up their option on the date to

